SKILL AND RECORD SPEED WIN FOR YANK

Schneider Cup Stays Here a Year.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Flying his seaplane with rare skill and speed never before attained in the world, Lieut. Jimmy Doolittle of the United States army flashed over the finish line in the Schneider cup race this afternoon and gained another leg on the trophy for this country. His speed for the 100-mile race was 232.57 miles an hour, which is 55.15 miles an hour faster than this race was ever flown before. It is forty-three miles an hour faster than the time made unofficially for this course last year.

Little was never pressed hard. After two American seaplanes of the same type were making only 220 miles an hour when they were forced to land by engine trouble and the only other entry, the Gloster-Napier, flown by Capt. Hubert Broad, finished with a speed of 199.16 miles an hour.

Italian Entry Far Behind.
The Italian entry, a Macchi-Curtis seaplane, flown by Lieut. Giovanni Brignani, made only 168.44 miles an hour and was still flying long after American and British planes had landed.

The more victory by America will give the cup permanently for this country, although six races had been flown. The United States entered the cup. The last two victories have been won by Americans.

The flying of Doolittle was masterly. He banked so sharply on his corners and held his plane so cleverly on its side until he had regained speed that he lost only five miles an hour on the turns and cut the corners so closely that experts estimated that he flew fifteen miles less than did the British and Italian planes. Their turns were very wide, adding materially to the distance they had to fly and wasting some of their precious supply of gasoline.

Sweep by Judges' Heads.
When Doolittle banked around the same pylon he held his plane in so tight a turn that he passed over the heads of the judges and so closely that the wind from his propeller hit them. He could not have been more than thirty feet above them and the shock shivering whirling crashed by with a roar that was terrifying. Just how fast this plane would travel was not a straightaway course the referee refused to predict, but Doolittle flew by nearly five miles an hour faster than the British supermarine. The supermarine was the ship that crashed here Friday, a plane in which England hoped to win the race and clinch her hold on the trophy. She made 228 miles an hour on the short course, which is 4.57 less than the winner's speed today.

Every Mark Is Broken.
It is probable that the weather is favorable tomorrow that flights will be made over a three kilometer course. Doolittle today broke every speed record from 3 to 200 kilometers. His 100 mile which has been the longest entries in the race still held for when Bert Hinkler went down morning in the Gloster-Napier. His unavailability test it was a rough, and a race that broke the pounding of the waves. The plane crashed and the engine stalled between them by the wings.

Perfect Day for Race.
It was an almost perfect day for the race. There was a small crowd along the shore and on the big pier which held the reserved seats and judges' box. The Bay Shore is nearly twenty miles from Baltimore and few could get away from work.

The maneuvers of the navy bombing squadron did not take place, for the maneuvers were piled on the shore of the river far from Bay Shore, most of the day completely wrecked. Lieut. R. Constant of the navy, in a seaplane, did some perfect stunt flying and five navy pursuit planes went down in formation flying and dropped bombs with parachutes.

Friend Drowned While Hunting, Belief
A small boat and an empty automobile were found today that John Constant, a son of the late Charles Constant, former United States minister to Austria-Hungary, and a companion were drowned in Round Lake while hunting yesterday. Mr. Constant, one of the proprietors of the Constant, was accompanied on the hunt by William L. Wood, engineer of the Constant. Arrangements were made to recover the body this afternoon.

NAVY DAY

(A good day on which to read about our second war of independence—1812.)

In Hollis' history of the frigate Constitution we read these reminiscent words:

"The astonishing part of the whole matter was our absolute unpreparedness."

And a little later on in the book we find these interesting comments:

"The war and the building up of a navy had been made so much a party question that congress

Wilda Says She Will Not Pay $37,500

Minneapolis, N. Y., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine Frey of Louisville, Ky., today was awarded a jury's verdict for $37,500 against Wilda Bennett, musical comedy actress, for alienating the affections of the plaintiff's husband, Charles C. Frey, race horse owner and sportsman.

The case was given to the jury Friday afternoon and a sealed verdict was returned late Friday night.

The verdict was read when court convened this morning. The case was tried before Supreme Court Justice Faber.

Sued for $100,000.

Mrs. Frey sued for $100,000. The trial lasted almost a week. Miss Bennett and Frey sat in the courtroom, as Mrs. Frey, on the witness stand, accused the actress of stealing the affections of her husband.

Miss Bennett entered the courtroom on the arm of Frey a few minutes before the verdict was opened and Mrs. Frey entered just as the verdict was being read.

William J. Fallon, counsel for Miss Bennett, immediately announced that he would appeal. His motion to set aside the verdict as being contrary to the weight of evidence was denied.

Fallon then asked permission to argue a similar motion next Wednesday, which Justice Faber granted.

Says She Won't Pay.

Miss Bennett smiled when the verdict was read.

"Verdict or no verdict, I know I am all right. Of course I do not intend to pay it," she said.

Frey, who sat beside the actress, said: "There will be an appeal. Don't worry about that."

Mrs. Frey said she was too happy to talk. "I feel that my sufferings have been somewhat allayed," she said.

"The verdict shows that these things cannot go on unchecked in New York," she said.

Considerable testimony was taken on the question whether Mrs. Frey's husband had been "pursued and won" by the actress, as charged by Mrs. Frey, or whether he had, as he testified, ceased to love his wife before he met Miss Bennett in 1923.

Breakfast parties at which Frey was said to have attended, clad only in purple silk pajamas, and entertainment by him of women in his apartment were prominent features of the testimony.

Find Manager and Wife Slain After Bank Closes

Montreal, Que., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The bodies of Charles Bernard, manager of the Rougemont, Que., branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, and his wife were found in their home today.

They are believed to have been killed Friday night. The bank was closed Saturday, the reason not being known to the officials. Neighbors found the body of the bank manager on the stairway, with his throat cut, and that of his wife in bed with a bullet through her head.

THE WEATHER.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1925.

Chicago and vicinity—Tuesday mostly fair, continued cold.

Illinois—Tuesday generally fair and continued cold.

Indiana—Tuesday mostly fair; colder in east portion.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy Tuesday, snow probable; lower Michigan—cloudy Tuesday, snow probable; central rain changing to snow in south; some light snow in west.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy to cloudy Tuesday; continued cold.

Missouri—Mostly fair Tuesday; colder Tuesday night; temperature dropping or below.

Iowa—Mostly fair Tuesday; continued cold.

Minnesota—Partly cloudy and somewhat unsettled Tuesday; probably snow flurries near Lake Superior; continued cold.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy to cloudy Tuesday.

Nebraska—Mostly fair Tuesday; somewhat colder Tuesday night in extreme east portion.

Kansas—Mostly fair Tuesday.

Montana—Mostly cloudy Tuesday, possibly snow.

Wyoming—Mostly cloudy Tuesday; probably snow in north portion.

Upper Lakes—Winds mostly fresh to strong northwest, except possibly moderate easterlies on Michigan and Huron; sky overcast, snow Tuesday, except mostly cloudy on western Michigan.

Winds mostly strong south and west, possibly reaching gale force at times; snow or rain Tuesday.

GENERAL FORECAST.

The disturbance over northern Illinois will move northeastward, and may develop storm force over most of the great lakes. A cold front will be passing through the state Tuesday night, and will be followed by a cold front from the northwest.

Upper Lakes—Winds mostly fresh to strong northwest, except possibly moderate easterlies on Michigan and Huron; sky overcast, snow Tuesday, except mostly cloudy on western Michigan.

Winds mostly strong south and west, possibly reaching gale force at times; snow or rain Tuesday.

What to Do.

The commissioner offers the following suggestions to protect yourself against pneumonia:

"Watch your cold. It is best to go to bed at once."

If necessary have your nose put in order. Many colds start in the nose, from which infection travels to the throat, the lungs and through the system generally.

Keep up resistance by maintaining personal hygiene. Eat sensibly, work sensibly, sleep sensibly, and exercise in the fresh air every day. Get your share of the sunshine and take cold liver oil.

Keep cool. Don't overheat your house.

Pneumonia Is on Increase; Watch Colds

Warnings to use the utmost precaution against pneumonia, which is rapidly increasing in prevalence, were issued yesterday in a health bulletin by Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundy. Deaths from the disease and the number of cases reported show that it is twenty-three per cent above the normal for this season of the year.

The epidemic index maintained by the health department shows that a month ago pneumonia cases were sixty-five per cent of the normal cases for that time of the year. The sudden increase caused the health commissioner to issue his warnings.

Deaths on Increase.

In the week ending Oct. 23 there were eighteen deaths from the disease and fifty-nine cases reported. The number has increased to thirty-five deaths and 142 cases for the week ending Oct. 23. In 1924 119 cases were reported for the corresponding week.

"While the disease does not appear to be unduly severe," Dr. Bundy said, "such a rise as we have had frequently goes further and this warning is issued accordingly. There is no need to get excited over this announcement, simply treat it as a storm signal much as you would a weather forecast."

STAB WOUND FROM PLAYMATE FATAL TO BOY

Albert Capoligri, 14 years old, 6723 South Hermitage avenue, died yesterday at his home from a stab wound inflicted by a playmate late Sunday night at 68th street and Hermitage avenue.

Witnesses told the Chicago Lawn police that Albert had been playing with a group of boys, whom he took delight in throwing down on the ground and thumping their noses.

Small Lurgle, 10 years old, 6823 South Paulina street, became enraged at the treatment accorded him, and when released by Albert drew a pocketknife, which he hurled, striking the older boy in the right temple.

Blood poisoning set in and Albert died yesterday morning at his home. Emil is being held at the Juvenile home pending an inquest today.

50 PHYSICIANS HIT IN DRIVE ON BOOZE RING

Railway Employees Also Quizzed.

While investigation of Chicago's alleged $800,000 a month beer syndicate was going along apace yesterday, Prohibition Director E. C. Yellowley threw a new hat into the Volstead ring by summoning fifty Chicago physicians to his office to show why they shouldn't have further prescription books withheld. He started off the campaign by reviving the permits of three doctors and three druggists.

In announcing the new drive against the "illegalized legal pints," Mr. Yellowley made it clear that the procedure in no way conflicts with his impending crusade against cabarets and supper clubs, but is rather a part of it, in anticipation of finding a large number of prescribed flasks on the hips and under the tables of merrymakers who may claim to be sick when the swoop comes.

Summoning Railway Employees.

Summoning of twenty employees of the New York Central railroad, eight of whom are reported to have confessed knowledge of illegal shipments, occupied most of the attention of Assistant District Attorney James L. McDowell and agents engaged in preparing evidence against the beer syndicate.

City Collector Thomas Keane was among those questioned during the day by Mr. McDowell. Keane is reported to be a friend of Matt Kalb, politician and alleged beer runner, who was the first to be arrested in the Morton Grove seizure that precipitated the present quiz.

Call Ten Police Captains.

Ten police captains are expected to be called into the federal building on the same information which led to the questioning of Keane. Mr. McDowell, on order of District Attorney Edwin A. Olson, refused to divulge details of his interview with Keane or to the extent the police captains are personally involved in the alleged beer plot.

Most of the railroad men questioned yesterday were lesser lights in the New York Central organization, but their statements were said to center around possible knowledge of illegal shipments by higher officials. It was rumored that federal officials last night were planning to bring in at least three railroad executives stationed at Elkhart, Ind., one of the big division points of the New York Central lines.

To Show Higher Ups.

Mr. Olson and Mr. McDowell refused to confirm the rumor, but said they were out to show railroad and police higher ups that claims of ignorance of what has been going on among their subordinates will not be accepted as excuses for Volstead act violations.

Sydney Murray, an attorney for the New York Central line, has been co-operating with federal officials and it is expected will assist in calling in railroad officials and employees to support his claims that the road never has knowingly cooperated with bootleggers in the shipment of beer and booze from eastern points.

Delay Grand Jury Hearing.

Developments in the railroad and police angles of the beer case were expected to delay consideration by the federal grand jury until next week, or possibly until the November jury is impaneled.

Capt. Patrick Harding, responding to published reports that he had been mentioned in connection with activities of the beer syndicate, and that he would be questioned at the federal building today, hotly denied knowledge of any illegal shipments and pointed out that there are no train tracks in his police district where bootleggers could unload contraband.

List of Permits Revoked.

The list of physicians and druggists whose permits were revoked because of irregularities in their prescription records, are:

Dr. Roy Gruffy, 1635 West Van Buren street; Dr. Samuel Epstein, 803 Roosevelt road; Dr. Thomas D. Walsh, 1635 Mason avenue; the Hawthorne Drug company, 4825 West 23d street.

Cicero: Levin Bros. Pharmacy, 2154 West Division street, and the Blaine Manor pharmacy, 4624 North Talman avenue.

Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin's Baby Dies in Three Hours

Born late Saturday night, the second child of Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin (Irene Castle) of Highland Park, lived only three hours and died at dawn Sunday. It was disclosed yesterday at the Michael Reese hospital, where the former dancer was rushed last Wednesday following a fall from a horse. Mrs. McLaughlin is reported to be out of danger.

First Gunman Dies in Police War to Death

Joseph De Vito, ex-convict, bootlegger and member of the Genna underworld faction, was the first victim of the police department's new policy of blood and iron for all known gunmen. With the bullets of a detective bureau squad pouring into his new automobile, De Vito crashed into a post at Hoyne avenue and Jackson boulevard yesterday afternoon. He was thrown from the car and incurred injuries that caused his death at the county hospital.

Just First One, Siege Says.

"He's just the first one," the captain remarked. "There will be others. Every man in the detective bureau has his orders to shoot first if he thinks the man he is trying to arrest has a gun. He can ask questions later."

De Vito was sighted by Lieut. John Ryan's motor squad at Aberdeen and Congress streets. He was driving leisurely along, with a five gallon can of alcohol on the rear seat. As the police approached he put on speed. He glanced back and saw that he was pursued. He put on more speed.

East in Congress street to Hoyne avenue the chase led, then north to Van Buren street, where a turn to the west was made. At Irving avenue the quarry turned north and raced to Jackson boulevard, where he again turned east.

Collides as Police Open Fire.

At Hoyne avenue, where there is a sharp curve, De Vito slowed down. The detectives started to fire at him there. Hastened by this, the bootlegger swerved sharply and collided with a car driven by Earl Barry, 1107 North Mason avenue. Barry was thrown out and was bruised and cut. De Vito's car was thrown over to the pavement, crashing against a pole. He was thrown out, and when the squad arrived he was unconscious.

The can of alcohol, despite its rough trip, was intact. Two of the detectives' bullets had struck the body of the automobile. No revolver was found, but the police said they saw him throwing one out shortly before the accident.

De Vito was 27 years old and lived at 1019 Blue Island avenue.

After being sent to prison twice in Ohio and being paroled each time, he was first heard from in Chicago in June, 1920, when he was arraigned on a robbery charge. He forfeited his bonds. In June, 1924, he was fined $50 and costs for attempted bribery.

HIRES TRAMP TO GO TO JAIL; GETS TERM IN PRISON

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Because he hired a "tramp" to serve his sentence of six months, John Connor of East Grand Forks, Minn., convicted bootlegger, today received an additional 13 months for contempt of court.

Connor was convicted early this year in federal court at St. Paul, Minn., and sentenced to the Becker county jail for six months. He obtained a stranger to "do his time," and authorities did not learn of the substitution until the sentence had been completed.

Today in federal court here he admitted that the change had been made. Now he will have to spend six months in the county jail in addition to the 13 months in federal prison at Leavenworth.

council, several members, including Paul Hymans of Belgium, frankly intimated that the league's future was at stake. They declared that if the future of the league was to be decided by the council, the league would be evading obligations which they had solemnly undertaken.

Greeks Seize More Posts.
SOFIA, Oct. 26.—(United Press.)—Greece's offensive against Bulgaria went on unabated today. While diplomats of the league of nations council were gathered at Paris to decide the border conflict, the Greeks widened their offensive to the west of the River Struma.

Following a two hour preparatory shelling with artillery, the Greeks advanced at 5 a. m. and occupied frontier post No. 8, having already occupied posts 9, 10, and 11.

The action followed a busy Sunday in which the Greeks not only drove against towns hitherto untouched, but entrenched themselves firmly in new and old positions. At a couple of points, they made slight retirements, but apparently only because their offensive had exceeded the mark set by the Greek general staff.

Bulgars Killed by Shells.
Five persons were killed and ten wounded—principally non-combatants—over the week-end by Greek artillery fire.

Cold, and the fear of an epidemic today added their terrors to the plight of refugees fleeing out of the occupied area. Authorities medical aid and blankets in the hope of forestalling an epidemic but the government was unable to provide even scanty shelter for the peasant folk driven out of their simple homes nestled near the Macedonian border. Men, women and children were reported huddled together beneath trees, hoping thus to escape some of the blast of cold rains.

Claim 21 Met Deaths.
LONDON, Oct. 26.—(United Press.)—A Swell Vrach dispatch to the Evening News, declared the Greeks, continuing Sunday their hostilities against Bulgaria in the act of taking a total of 21 persons and wounded nine others. Of this number some were women and children.

The paper related that fire directed at the destruction of the village of Lelevo, while some houses burned at Maricostovo.

Tells of Frontier Warfare.
LONDON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Daily Express prints a dispatch from Lelevo, Bulgaria, headquarters of four miles from Petrich, dated Sunday, saying the Bulgarians and the Greeks continue to wage intermittent warfare. The correspondent, however, confines the details to the doings of the Greeks, not mentioning any Bulgarian retaliation.

He says that on Sunday he could see Greek shells falling upon one of the Bulgarian mountain batteries, which arrived Friday night but which had not been used. The Greeks were declared to greatly outnumber the Bulgarians and are using artillery, machine guns, and airplanes. Their task is easy because the Bulgarians are under strict control and ordered not to retaliate.

"The Struma valley," says the dispatch, "is dotted with refugees waiting to take their cattle to safety. The Bulgarians are leaving in terror. The attack of the Greeks now seems to have been diverted from Petrich to Papernitza, which is constantly shelled. The food problem is becoming serious. The only blessing is that the weather is fine, which benefits the population."

Greeks Digging In.
VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Advices from Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, declare that the Greek troops at all points are digging in and strengthening their positions, apparently for a long stay on Bulgarian soil.

Early this morning they are reported to have occupied a new position south of Petrich, which hitherto had been in the hands of Bulgarian troops. A number of persons were killed or wounded in the Greek bombardment of the town.

OUST LIBERALS!

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—An official report received at the state department on the coup in Managua yesterday by former President Chamorro said he proposed to drive the liberal members out of the cabinet and to restore the conservative party to the control it held prior to the recent "fraudulent elections."

The conservative leader did not intend to force President Solorzano to resign, but demanded that the ministry of war and complete control of arms in Nicaragua be turned over to him. American Minister Eberhardt reported that the liberal cabinet members were not disposed to retire "even under Chamorro's threat of anarchy and revolution."

Two men have been killed in front of the president's palace due to the firing in the streets by "Chamorro's armed men," the message said, adding that the Chamorro forces had threatened to seize the palace and take complete control of the government by force if necessary.

FARM INTERESTS OPEN FIGHT ON FREIGHT BOOST

Hearing Reveals Clumsy Rate Machinery.

Representatives of farmer and live stock interests of the west went into action before the interstate commerce commission chairman, Clyde B. Atchison, at the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday to head off the proposed horizontal 5 per cent increase in freight rates for the western group of railroads.

They faced a staggering mass of statistics, making up the railroad case. Col. Samuel A. Cowan of Texas, who is fighting the battle of the live stock interests, was given during the session an armful of annual railroad reports which he had requested at the previous hearing, when the railroads had their innings. The colonel thanked the railroad lawyers and staggered off with his reports. A few minutes later he was presented, in common with all others there, with columns of statistics and rate tables prepared by T. A. Hamilton, representing the security holders' committee for the northwestern roads.

"Too many figures here," said the colonel at last.

Rate Methods More Cumbersome.
The machinery for getting a fair return for the railroads, contemplated by the transportation act according to the railroad lawyers, is getting more cumbersome every time a move of this kind is made.

The railroads must put expensive auditing and accounting machinery at work to get the figures upon which to base their plea. The various organizations in protection of shippers are forced to employ lawyers and good ones. The record is taken down and a handsome stenographic bill is added. The commission moves from place to place. Hundreds of witnesses are called. Before any decision is made here the commission will go to the Pacific coast and back and hold final hearings at Washington, with such lawyers as Charles Evans Hughes appearing in the case.

William Church Osborne and Greenville Clark, New York attorneys, appeared yesterday to present the case for the security holders. They are asking not only the 5 per cent flat increase but special treatment for the northwest group of roads.

Shows Trunk Line Disadvantage.
Mr. Hamilton showed that five roads in the western trunk line territory, compared with fifty-three other roads in the western district, received 14.2 per cent less in average revenue per ton mile.

He also gave a table of the shrinkage in value in Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul securities during the last twenty-five years, as evidenced by market value. The figure given was $419,837,308, equivalent to 84 per cent of the new capital invested in the properties during that period.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific, was on the witness stand.

"Passenger earnings in 1924 on the Missouri Pacific showed a decrease of 7.6 per cent as compared with 1923, while in the first seven months of 1925 there has been a further decrease of 7.5 per cent as compared with the same period in 1924," he testified.

Cites Motor Competition.
"Since 1920 the carriers operating in the western district have sustained losses in revenue which I regard as more or less permanent in their nature. I refer to competition by bus and automobile and by trucks transporting short haul merchandise traffic, this situation growing out of a continued building of hard surfaced roads, in most instances paralleling the lines of the carriers from and to points between which there had been some considerable movement of merchandise freight traffic.

BONDHOLDERS OF ST. PAUL ABROAD SEND ATTORNEY

(Copyright, 1925, by the New York Times.)
PARIS, Oct. 26.—Charles G. Loeb, American attorney of Paris, will sail on Wednesday on the steamship Paris, having been retained by the recently constituted bondholders committee of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. Georges Casmeze is chairman of this committee.

"If the reorganization committee does not modify its plan in respect to the 1910 4 per cent European loan, due last June," Mr. Loeb said, "application may be made through the United States courts for a sale of the road or for an order restraining the organization managers from paying in full obligations of the roads contracted subsequent to the 1910 loan."

"I shall make every effort and use every arm of the United States law to satisfy what I consider to be the just claims of the committee I represent, whose members are chiefly French investors."

FAULTY WARRANT CAUSES U. S. TO DROP RUM CASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Another prohibition case from Cleveland was dropped by the federal government today in the supreme court because the original proceeding had been based on a faulty search warrant.

The government confessed that it had proceeded illegally in seizing liquor from Patrick Joyce, whose premises were searched on a warrant issued on information provided by a citizen, and without a prior investigation by government agents. A case against Miles W. Gibbons of Cleveland recently was dropped for similar reasons under the courts opinion of two weeks ago in which searches without proper warrants were declared unconstitutional.

5,000 SEE RAID FOR BEER ON ELKS' CLUB IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Police raided the basement of the Elks' club in West Forty-third street today and seized nine kegs of alleged beer and arrested the driver of a wagon in which the beverage had just been delivered to the club.

More than five thousand persons gathered outside the club while the raid was in progress. The club is one of the principal headquarters of the Elks in this city.

William Phillips, secretary of the club, denied that there had been any liquor in the building.

CAILLAUX DEFIES PREMIER; WON'T RESIGN POST

Cabinet Saved for a Day by Briand's Illness.

BY DON SKENE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 26.—The impending fall of the Poincaré government was postponed for twenty-four hours today.

The council of ministers, scheduled to meet at the Elysée palace this morning, was put off until tomorrow, after Finance Minister Caillaux bluntly refused the premier's plea that he resign.

Then Caillaux presented his fiscal legislation program before a cabinet meeting, which adjourned without decision after three hours and a half of angry debate between supporters and adversaries of the finance minister.

The situation was further aggravated when Aristide Briand, foreign minister, who had exerted all his influence to bring peace between M. Poincaré and Caillaux to effect a compromise, was stricken with a recurrence of his old malady—severe illness.

Illness Stays Crisis.

The illness of M. Briand, whose physicians forced him to take a complete rest from politics until he regains his strength, was one of the biggest factors in the postponement of the crisis.

After defying M. Poincaré, M. Caillaux opened war against the exchange speculators by demanding legal prosecution of the French bankers and speculators who are suspected of bringing down the franc by heavy purchases of dollars, pounds sterling, and other foreign currencies.

The Caillaux reaction sharply on the bourse, strengthening the franc after a wobbly opening. After trading at 24.85 to the dollar, it closed at 25.75 to the dollar and 119.75 to the pound sterling.

In Private Session.

The fatal day of the Poincaré cabinet opened shortly after 3 o'clock with a private session of the big three—M. Poincaré, Briand, and Caillaux.

M. Poincaré asked the finance minister to resign for the good of the country, saying that his Sarthe speech yesterday definitely showed that his private views would meet with fatal opposition from the government's leaders in the chamber of deputies.

Caillaux refused. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted.

Caillaux refused. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted. "You will resign," M. Poincaré shouted.

FRENCH LOAN IS PEOPLE'S MONEY: BORAH TO PIEZ

No Right to Cancel Interest, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Without specific authorization from the American people, congress has no right to "unload" the foreign war debts on the taxpayers of the United States, Chairman Borah of the Senate Finance Committee, declared in a letter sent today to Charles Piez, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

Replying to a communication from Mr. Piez suggesting that the American debt commission should have accepted the recent French offer of settlement, Senator Borah said the money loaned to France was obtained from the American people under a very specific pledge that the loans would be "repaid with reasonable interest."

Points to French Army.

Calling attention to the fact that since the war France has maintained an army of seven hundred thousand to a million men; that she now has 200,000 soldiers fighting the Rif, and that she has loaned large sums to other countries to maintain military establishments, Senator Borah declared he did not feel it was any part of his duty to put the load of the present "imperialistic war and France's military establishment upon the taxpayers of the United States."

STUDY ITALIAN DEBT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Preparatory to the arrival of the Italian debt mission and the opening of negotiations next Monday, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, chairman, and the other members of the American debt funding commission are making a careful study of Italy's economic and financial condition with a view to reaching conclusions as to her capacity to pay her $2,000,000,000 debt to the United States.

Officials here are hopeful that they will be able to reach a complete settlement. The Italian debt, it is admitted, is comparatively large, the principal alone being $1,647,869,187, with added interest to May 15 last of $490,674,654 and economic conditions in Italy have not improved as rapidly as has been hoped; nevertheless, a sincere effort will be made, it was said to

FAILURES FEWER IN BUSINESS NOW, CREDIT MEN TOLD

Business failures are showing a tendency to decrease both in number and the amount of liabilities, J. H. Trigue, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, declared yesterday at the annual conference of the association at the Hotel Sherman.

Mr. Trigue said there are arising speculative tendencies in real estate which offer danger spots and need adjustment. He pointed out that at no time is there more intelligence needed than at the present in the handling of credits in real estate. He said he not only referred to Florida but to Chicago and practically every section of the country. "Remember," he asserted, "that all former panics started with extravagant real estate speculations."

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, Oct. 26.—Miss Vedech, representing the secretariat of emigration of the National Catholic Welfare of the United States, spoke at the opening session of the congress of the Union of International Associations of Catholic Women today. She outlined the difficulties of immigration to America and appealed for the establishment in every country of branches for the assistance of Catholic emigrants.

Denmark's Unemployment Grows; Fear Hard Winter

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 26.—Unemployment in Denmark is rapidly increasing and an exceptionally hard winter is expected. The government's bill reserving 41,000,000 kroner ($10,250,000) for state work in the relief of unemployed is not expected to pass owing to the heavy opposition. The advance of the Danish currency is blamed for the increase in unemployment.

SEVERAL TAXES HIT BY INDUSTRIES CLAIMING INJURY

House Committee Hears Numerous Pleas.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Repeal of the capital stock tax and taxes on stock transfers, jewelry, automobiles, arms and ammunition and photographic supplies, were sought before the house ways and means committee today by witnesses who reported adverse effects on their various industries.

Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the committee, in a statement amplifying his comment of Saturday, approving in a general way the recommendations of the national committee on inheritance taxation as presented by Frederic A. Delano, said that while he might be willing to abolish the federal estate tax ultimately if state uniformity is established, he preferred to wait and see what the states will do before making any provision for repeal.

Gives States Six Years.

The Delano plan contemplated immediate enactment of legislation for the repeal of the federal estate tax at the end of six years on the assumption that in the meantime a movement toward securing substantial uniformity in state inheritance tax laws would be successful.

The repeal of the capital stock tax was urged by William S. Bennett of Chicago, as attorney for western lumber interests. On behalf of the Chicago Stock Exchange, Mr. Bennett sought the repeal of the stamp tax on stock transfers.

Repeal of the jewelry tax was asked by Ralph Roessler, representing the American National Retail Jewelers' association.

Against Auto Taxes.

Additional witnesses appeared in behalf of the reduction or repeal of automobile taxes. These included C. E. Gambill of Chicago, president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, who described the automobile taxes as "unjust, discriminatory, and no longer justified on the grounds of expediency."

Charles V. Barrett of Chicago, representing the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company, H. C. Bradford of Chicago, representing the American Drivers' association, and Everett C. Willard of Kansas City, representing the Saunders System.

Levy on Firearms.

Several witnesses sought the repeal of the tax on ammunition and firearms. They included: C. L. Rierson of New York, representing manufacturers; Herbert P. Sheets of Indianapolis.

SUPREME COURT MAY ACT ON SMALL INTEREST TODAY

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—

There is a bare chance that if the Illinois Supreme court acts on the Small public interest suit at this term, the opinion in the case will be handed down late tomorrow afternoon.

Oral arguments on a state road route dispute still have half an hour to run and the court has allowed six hours to hear

YANKEES' DUTY GRIPS STUDENTS AT U. OF ILLINOIS

They Are Citizens, and So Would Guard U. S.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

University of Illinois, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Whoever has stood in chapel at West Point, one of the most beautiful and affecting ecclesiastical interiors in the world, will remember that on the walls are emblazoned the words:

HONOR—DUTY—COUNTRY.

Those words exactly epitomize the spirit with which officers of the regular army are infusing the students of American colleges and universities that make military training a part of their curricula.

There are about a hundred such institutions where this training is compulsory for freshmen and sophomores, besides other important schools, among them Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Lehigh, Carnegie, Michigan, Chicago, and Leland Stanford, where it is voluntary for all grades.

Picked for Their Fitness.

The regular army officers whom the war department sends to colleges and universities to give military instruction are regarded as "among the choicest individuals in the service. They are good scholars, sound tacticians, and men of the highest standards of honor and duty. They are so regarded by their comrades in arms and they soon come to be so regarded by the civilian teachers with whom their work brings them in contact.

Here, for illustration, is a spontaneous note to me from P. H. Turner, assistant dean of men at the University of Illinois, who was writing about the present head of the university's military department:

"I want you to know Col. Merry. You will find him an unusually scholarly type of military man; a very capable and cultured officer; a man of lofty standards. I believe you will enjoy his staff, especially Capt. Nevins, who is one of the right hand men."

So They Deliver the Goods.

So I sought out Col. Merry, who, while very courteous, was also very much to the point, and who volleyed forth thus: "The war department's educational methods as applied on this campus under the provisions of the national defense act and the scheme of the Reserve Officers' Training corps, admit no propaganda."

"We don't combat pacifism and we don't preach militarism. Our purpose is to show how awful war is."

"We teach the students their power—as informed and trained citizens—to keep their country out of war. We are—and we want them to be—like the fire department. It doesn't start fires. Nor do we. But we—and the generations coming after us—ought to be alert to put out fires, and ought to know how to do it."

"The students we work with and are studying the national defense policy just as they would any other policy of their country, only—I think—a great deal more vividly and closely."

Honor—Duty—Country.

"Irrespective of its relation to national defense or its bearing on the country's safety in case of war, a vital part of the instruction the students receive is instruction in the value of discipline, in respect for law and property, and in respect for the word of honor given or received."

Thus far Col. Merry. From other sources I learned this—and it seems to me a rather startling fact:

In the non-church institutions of learning in this country that are offering military training the officers sent by the war department to "teach military," as the students put it, are also teaching more ethics than any other class of professors in such institutions.

When that gleaming was submitted to Col. Merry for comment, he said: "We never miss an opportunity to stress those points—whether it is a matter of keeping your word inviolate or a matter of cleaning harness scrupulously."

"Why clean harness so scrupulously?" Well, partly because leather lives by care, but first of all because it is your country's property, paid for by the taxpayers."

In yesterday's dispatch you were told how military training is a stern sort of the physically fit and unit.

It's Then Matter of Choice.

It is also a great moral sifter. After a student here has taken military training for two years, he is no longer compelled to take it. But he may elect to continue the work, and if he does, he may win an officer's commission in the cadet corps and ultimately become an assistant instructor. These promotions carry with them certain commutations and certain substantial emoluments in the way of allowance for uniform, ration money, salary as instructor, and other advantages not necessary to recount here.

Students ambitious for such advancement are carefully watched by their regular army instructors for two years, and when their names come up for consideration in connection with commissions you hear, along with warm commendation of some, these words about others:

"He won't honor the uniform."

"He simply hasn't it in him."

"You wouldn't want your son to serve under him."

The gist of the matter is that juniors and seniors who wish to take advanced military instruction must not only be good enough to want it. They must also be good enough to be wanted.

If the close and comradely relation existing between the military instructors from the regular army and the cadets is of large benefit in an ethical way to the students it is also of no negligible benefit to the instructors. It is doing as much as anything that ever happened in the annals of the regular service to humanize that service and to bring it into comprehension of and sympathy with the problems and ideals of the youth of the land and the civil population generally.

At the University of Illinois the regular army officers are not a clique and their attitude is not aloof. They enter in to the social and the church life of the students. The proportion of their time that they give to promising students outside of class hours is large.

As Capt. Ramey of the artillery put it: "In or out of class hours our time is at the service of the students," and Maj. Magruder said, "Officers assigned by the war department to this duty regard it as the most important assignment they can have."

Character Building, Too.

"If a man have not character," he added, "what good is he? If a man have not health, what good is he? Military instruction builds character and military drill builds health."

Nearly all the officers whom the war department assigns to teaching the students in the Reserve Officers' Training corps are graduates from the special service schools, such as those at Fort Benning, Fort Leavenworth, Fort Riley, and Fort Sill, and all of them are listed by the department as "above average" in the matter of "ability, efficiency, personality, and character." They must combine tact with firmness to an exceptional degree, for in dealing with student cadets they are not allowed to enforce such penalties as extra "K. P." (kitchen police), for the students don't have such duties. They reach the students only through marks and demerits and by their faculty for searching out and bringing out what is right and fine in the student. Infliction of penalties remains in the hands of the civilian dean of men of the university.

The 24 regular army officers at Illinois and their 35 student assistants are teaching the theory and practice of six arms of the service—infantry, cavalry, artillery, engineers, air, and signal corps. Their "basic students" come to them once a week for a two hour period of instruction; their "advanced students" twice a week, once for a one hour period and once for a two hour period.

What is taught?

In order not to splutter my facts too widely, let me ask you to run your eye over a few of the items in the basic instruction of artillerymen solely. Thus:

Dismantled drill, pistol practice, riding, pairW driving, service of the piece, mounted drill, map reading, and map making.

In the artillery man's junior year come, among many other items, a stiff course in terrain board work and smoke puff work, and the study of typical battles of the revolutionary, civil, Spanish-American, and world wars.

especially those phases of the world war in which American troops participated.

All along all the cadets are learning "customs and courtesies of the service" and care of uniform and equipment, and in the second year of the advanced work the seniors are studying, among other subjects, "Military Law, Its History and Sources; Courts martial, Their Organization and Limitation; Charges and Their Investigation; Procedure and Evidence."

Learn of Costly Lessons.

Above all, the cadets are taught what a defense policy—or the lack of it—has meant to their country. They learn to take to heart and thoroughly to comprehend the solemn warnings in that bulky and tragic volume, Maj. Gen. Upton's "Military Policy of the United States."

Every item of the military instruction from basic to advanced is designed to produce the rounded, competent citizen of the nation as distinguished from the mere inhabitant of the land.

DICK SR. TELLS OF HELPING SON AND WIFE STAR

Denies Alienation; City
Buying Edythe a Hat

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRI
Albert Dick, wealthy ex-brewer and attorney, once gave Mrs. Edythe L.
Dick, his not so wealthy ex-daughter in-law, of Chicago, a $500 dollar hat.
And that is one of the reasons
suggested yesterday on the stand
Judge Charles A. Williams' court, the jury should not compel him to pay even one penny of the $200 damages she is asking, for his alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Willis.
Note for $11,000.

Mr. Dick balanced other things, against that $500,000. For instance, there was that $11,000 note for which he says he went surety, back in 1911.
And that is one of the reasons
suggested yesterday on the stand
Judge Charles A. Williams' court, the jury should not compel him to pay even one penny of the $200 damages she is asking, for his alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Willis.
Note for $11,000.

But the incident of the hat seemed to stick in the mind of other-in-law. He told it slowly, impressively.
"It was in September, 1921," said Mr. Dick, replying in answer to a question by his attorney, Frank L. Smith, "when I went down to Chicago to visit Will and Edythe. I was at their apartment."

Edythe took me out for a walk down Sheridan road. We went window shopping, and she would say something and say, 'My, that pretty coat,' or 'See that nice pair of shoes.'"

Gave Her Two Fives.
Then, with emphasis the ex-father-in-law recalls that in front of one of his sons, his wife, drew in her hand a $500 bill and said, "O, what a beautiful hat."

"Then I asked her how much it cost and she said $5. So I put my hand in my pocket and gave her the five.
"But the next day she came to me and told me she had lost the money.
—er—I hesitated, but I gave her another five, and that afternoon bought the hat."

And the next day, as the witness members it, there was another window shopping, with more results. For when young Dick loitered near a suit which suited to her, the elder Mr. Dick told her he said to her:
"But, Edythe, you must conserve your cash."

And he remembers that Ed-dythe turned away from the suit and said, "Yes, you are right."

DICK SR. TELLS OF HELPING SON AND WIFE START

Denies Alienation; Cites
Buying Edythe a Hat.

GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK, Albert Dick, wealthy ex-brewer of Chicago, once gave Mrs. Edythe Louise Dick, his not so wealthy ex-daughter-in-law, of Chicago, a five dollar hat.

Note for $11,000. Mr. Dick balanced other things, too, that $500,000. For instance, he says that $11,000 note for which he went surety, back in 1920, in order that the young Dicks, then newly married, might purchase the chocolate shop near Wilson avenue and Broadway. And there were the monthly checks to his son, always between $50 and $100, which the father declares he sent along to supplement that son's somewhat meager income.

But the incident of the chapeau seemed to stick in the mind of the father-in-law. He told it slowly, and suggestively.

"It was in September, 1921," the father Mr. Dick replied in answer to question by his attorney, Frank J. Herliott, "when I went down to Chicago to visit Will and Edythe. I was staying at their apartment."

"Edythe took me out for a walk, up and down Sheridan road. We went window shopping, and she would point something and say, 'My, that's a pretty coat,' or 'See that nice pair of shoes.'"

"But the next day she came to me and told me she had lost the money. I hesitated, but I gave her another five, and that afternoon she bought the hat."

And he remembers that Edythe turned away from the suit and murmured "Yes, you are right."

The only other detail of that visit which Mr. Dick told to the jury was his reaction to the way his daughter-in-law kept house.

Over the objections of Attorney Irving Herliott, counsel for Mrs. Dick, Mr. Dick Sr. remarked:

"The home was not kept properly. The kitchen was not proper, the way we German-Americans think it should be. Besides, Edythe would sleep until 9 or 10 o'clock and would make no attempt to get my breakfast."

Beyond these more or less housewifely complaints, Mr. Dick maintains he never made any disturbance in his son's home, and insists that he always was more than friendly to his son's wife.

Attorney Herliott will cross examine him this morning, and the case is expected to get to the jury late today.

EX-WAUKEGAN CITY OFFICIAL IS PUT ON TRIAL

Commissioner Juffus V. Balz, ex-official head of the Waukegan police and fire departments, went on trial yesterday in the Circuit court of Judge Claire C. Edwards, together with a Chicago salesman, Benjamin J. Barrett, on charges of conspiracy.

Barrett is charged with being the promoter of an alleged police pension crime in which State's Attorney A. V. Smith charges merchants and business men of the city were swindled out of $6,000. The state charges threats were made in many cases to get contributions.

Commissioner Balz, according to the prosecution, recommended the proposition and even went so far in some cases to suggest the size of contributions. But to the Waukegan city official being known from one end of the county to the other, the matter of getting a jury is difficult. One hundred veniremen were examined today and only four were accepted by both sides and sworn in.

RESCUE 32 MEN FROM SINKING SHIP IN STORM

Seven Liners Delayed by Heavy Seas.

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Out of the storm lashed lanes of the north Atlantic, where seven liners are slowly battering their way toward port through seas which have already long delayed them, word was flashed today by radio of the rescue of thirty-two men of the crew of the Norwegian steamer Elven, foundering in mid-Atlantic.

Only a cryptic message from the captain of the succoring ship, the American Trader of the American Merchant Lines, told of the rescue, the second within less than a week in mid-ocean. The Elven, now herself a victim, was one of the vessels which veered from her course in response to distress signals from the Ignacio Florio, whose crew of twenty-eight was rescued by the President Harding.

Steamer Towed In. While this new rescue was affected the coastwise steamship Commonwealth of the Fall River line was slowly toward the safety of the Newport, R. I., harbor after a night at anchor at the mercy of the storm. Ashore was counted the cost in life and property of two devastating wind storms which left havoc in their wakes from Alabama to Massachusetts.

Apparently caught in the storm which have swept the Atlantic for a week, the Elven sent out distress signals last night, reporting her steering gear disabled and her lifeboats carried away. A little before noon the American Trader reported she was standing by and an hour or two later her master, Capt. W. C. Fish radioed "at noon 1,475 miles east of Ambrose, have crew of Norwegian steamer Elven, thirty-two men. Expect arrive Friday afternoon."

Storms Delay Liners. Ocean liners which reported delays carry a total of 2,100 passengers. With seas still mountainous they are working their way toward port, in some instances with speed reduced to three knots.

Delayed vessels include the President Harding, Lapland, Celtic, Scythia, and Tuscania, Mount Clay, and the Orbita.

GIVES BIRTH TO BOY TRIPLETS, 6 POUNDS EACH

Mrs. R. W. Swanson, 1156 West 64th street, yesterday gave birth to triplets, all boys, at the Chicago Lying-in hospital, 428 East 51st street, by a Caesarian operation, which was performed without the administration of a general anesthetic. Dr. J. B. De Lee performed the operation.

The babies weighed a little more than six pounds each, with a difference of only one ounce in each case. Mrs. Swanson is 23 years old and has no other children.

Mother and babies were reported doing well last night.

Girl Fears Engine Will Hit Trolley; Leaps; Hurt

Believing that the street car upon which she was riding was in danger of being struck by a locomotive, Laura Dahn, 15 years old, 1820 North Albany avenue, ran to the rear of the car and plunged headlong through a window at the Cherry avenue crossing of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad yesterday. Puffs of steam and smoke from a standing locomotive misled the girl, the police said. She was taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital, where it was learned that she had possible internal injuries in addition to cuts and bruises.

DRUGGAN FACES JURY FOR HITTING REPORTER'S NOSE

Mayhem, State Says in Asking Prison Term.

Whether a "smash" in the nose constitutes mayhem and whether Terry Druggan was or was not justified in smashing the nose of F. J. Lovering, Chicago Journal reporter, were questions submitted to a jury yesterday.

Druggan, still a government prisoner because of his beer business which netted him $1,000,000, finally was brought to trial before Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh. A jury, which individually and collectively said it would not be prejudiced either for or against a bootlegger or a newspaper reporter, was selected and sworn by 3:30 o'clock.

Mayhem Carries Prison Term. Assistant State's Attorney Michael Romano then began the opening statement for the prosecution. Mayhem, he said, is a crime defined as, among other things, the mutilation of the nose, lip, ear, etc., of any person. The punishment may be imprisonment in the penitentiary for from one to twenty years.

Romano recited the story state witnesses will tell. Lovering, he said, was sent to the county jail to see Druggan, because of a story in another afternoon paper to the effect that Druggan had been illegally and prematurely released.

When Lovering was brought to Druggan's sumptuous quarters in the jail hospital, the crime of mayhem was committed, Romano asserted. Lovering's nose was literally spread over his lip, was split, his eyes were injured, according to what the state said it intends to prove.

Admits Smash in Nose. Attorney Robert N. Golding, representing Druggan, then made a short statement outlining Druggan's defense. He had frankly admitted in his examination of the jury that Druggan was a bootlegger, that he was in jail and still is, that he did give Lovering a "smash" in the nose.

"Our defense is that this was just an ordinary fight," Golding said. "We contend Lovering suffered no permanent injury. He will be on the stand and you may look him over yourself. We contend that not one of the constituent elements of mayhem can be proved."

"First, there was no malicious intent. The scrap was spontaneous, without premeditation. Second, there was no disfigurement within the meaning of the law, and there were no permanent injuries. "Last, we will submit to you whether there was not justification on Druggan's part in taking the only effective means of ridding himself of the reporter who was unlawfully and illegally there himself. We will show that it is a rule of the jail that no one may see a prisoner without the prisoner's consent. That rule was broken by the superintendent in bringing Lovering to see Druggan."

Lovering was the only witness of the day and was under cross-examination when court took a recess until this morning. He said that on Sept. 10 he was sent to the county jail to see Druggan, because it was said Druggan was out of jail, despite the fact his year's sentence was far from being completely served.

Lovering Says He Was Held. "As soon as Druggan saw me he said, 'You damn lay off me or I'll get you,'" Lovering testified. "Then he hit me and I staggered. Mike Jel-nick, a prisoner, and Warden Thomas Brockmeyer grabbed me, pinning my arms behind me. "I'll kill you if it's the last thing I do," he said to me as he continued to hit me while I was being held. Jel-nick was saying 'Get out of ———' as he held me and as Druggan was hitting me. "You better come out," Brockmeyer was saying as he held me. Druggan was calling me the foulest of names as he struck me."

The prosecuting witness told of then being in a hospital for three weeks, undergoing two operations on his nose.

$16,000 SOUGHT IN FIRST OF WATER DAMAGE CLAIMS

Morris, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Faded photographs, taken Jan. 22, 1900, within a week after water was first started through the sanitary canal, were silent witnesses introduced today in the claim of Thomas Hutchings against the Chicago sanitary district for damages to his farm bordering the Illinois river.

Mr. Hutchings' demand for $16,000 compensation for the damage he contends was occasioned by the diversion of water into the canal and the Illinois river, is the first to be heard here by the claims commission. Approximately 4,000 acres with claims totaling $400,000, are involved in the 25 claims.

ROSEHILL MAUSOLEUM

Beautiful Addition
Is Being Built

THE announcement of lower prices in the new addition to Rosehill Mausoleum has had a far-reaching effect.

Thousands of fine Chicago families who have long regarded this as the most expressive way of showing respect to their departed, are now given opportunity to avail themselves of it.

The fact that ownership of space here, including perpetual care, need involve no greater outlay than $40 for a single crypt, with private family rooms obtainable at correspondingly moderate prices, is the best explanation of the constantly increasing interest.

Inquiries will receive prompt and courteous attention without incurring any obligation.

Attempts to conceal complexion blemishes usually fail, and only serve to draw attention to the defects.

Underneath most unattractive skins is a clear, pleasing complexion—all that is needed is the proper treatment. It is surprising how often a brief use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap will clear away blotches, redness and roughness and give the skin its natural freshness and charm.

Another MILANI Treat!

A delicious new Roquefort Dressing—made by Milani! A worthy companion product to Milani's French Dressing.

"Made by Milani"—that alone, to thousands of Chicago families will be sufficient guarantee of its excellence. For few, if any, food products ever gained the wide popularity of Milani's French Dressing in such a short space of time.

And it's all because of an appealing indefinite something about Milani's dressings that others just do not have. That appetite-provoking "something" is the despair of imitators; it cannot be copied because it is the sole secret of Luigi Milani.

Milani's Dressings are not packed under any other name and if you do not find the Milani name on the bottle you are being offered a substitute.

Milani's French Dressing is equally as good on meat, game and fish. The next time you serve a steak try adding some Milani's French Dressing and note the new deliciousness—many prefer Milani's to the sauces made exclusively for meats. You will find Milani's Dressings wherever the best foods are sold.

VON HINDENBURG WANTS SABOTAGE OF PEACE PACTS

Orders Luther to Sign
Locarno Treaties.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—The program for the pacification of Europe prepared at Locarno will not be changed despite the opposition in the ranks of the German Nationalists. It was announced today that Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann will sign the Locarno pacts in London on Dec. 1. The German republican constitution provides that the chancellor has the right to sign treaties provided the president of the country empowers him to do so. President von Hindenburg has approved the pact and consequently is prepared to authorize Chancellor Luther to sign the treaties he initiated together with Foreign Minister Stresemann.

After the signature of the treaty in London the reichstag still refuses to ratify it. Chancellor Luther, Foreign Minister Stresemann, and President von Hindenburg are prepared to accept it.

Hopes to Win Reichstag.
Chancellor Luther is confident that the next five weeks will enable him to secure the reichstag to grant the majority needed for ratification. He is confident the nationalists will revise their "unacceptable" resolution with which they scuttled the Locarno pacts when they find the French and British keeping the promises they made at Locarno. If this fails to impress them, Chancellor Luther hopes the socialists and democrats will not join the nationalists for the sake of party politics. They won in yesterday's elections in Berlin, Baden, and the small German towns, and consequently the leaders are more inclined to be generous from the viewpoint of party politics. It was pointed out by Chancellor Luther today.

Count estarp, addressing the nationalists, ordered his partisans to "remain from any action which would make it difficult for the members of the party to return to the cabinet." Count Westarp vowed not to take a step further until the president of the reichsbank, Herr Schacht, returns to Berlin and reports on the impressions of the Americans.

The nationalists feel that there is no reason for them to approve of the Locarno pacts since "even Senator Borah convinced that the treaties are not strong enough instruments to abolish war. The nationalists are also waiting to see whether the French and British fulfill the promises they made at Locarno.

Luther to Handle Finances.
Chancellor Luther will add the work of the finance minister to his daily program. War Minister Gessler must find time to be minister of the interior, and Minister of Traffic Krohne has been invested with the power of minister of economics, all by order of President von Hindenburg. It was announced in an official communique this evening.

Until last night Foreign Minister Stresemann rather enjoyed Chancellor Luther's difficulties with the "pet children of the nationalists." But reports on the elections in Berlin, Baden, and the small towns all show that the Socialists and communists are winning seats from the bourgeoisie. Herr Stresemann's party is coming out a great loser.

Herr Stresemann secretly hoped that new elections after the dissolution of the reichstag would prove beneficial for his party, which would be strong enough to take votes from the nationalists, but yesterday's election proved this theory wrong. Herr Stresemann realizes there is nothing to win for him in new elections, and consequently he is adding the power of his position and personality to the struggle to obtain the majority needed for the ratification of the Locarno pacts.

PROMISES NEW RUSSIAN DEBT BID TO FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Oct. 26.—After Georges Tchitcherine, soviet foreign minister, has finished taking the cure at Wiesbaden, he may come to Paris to meet Foreign Minister Briand for an important conference on Franco-Russian relations. According to one of M. Tchitcherine's closest political confidants, interviewed by the Matin's correspondent as Wiesbaden, the soviet foreign minister would welcome a talk with M. Briand now. M. Tchitcherine's spokesman said the soviet government soon would offer new and generous debts settlement proposals, which it was hoped French investors would accept.

BREAKFAST ENDS FATALITY.
Savage, Minn., Oct. 26.—Two men are dead and one dying as a result of a breakfast table quarrel here today. All were farm laborers. Fielding King, 31, killed Earl Husone, 23, perhaps fatally wounded William Lowman, 26, and killed himself in a nearby corn field.

FIRE ENGINES DO EMERGENCY JOB AT WATERWORKS

When a fire put the 'Argo-Summit' pumping plant out of commission Sunday the village fire department was converted into an emergency waterworks and baths were had as usual. Until recently the power for the pumping plant had been furnished by the sanitary district. A new contract was made with the Public Service Company of Illinois. The change had just been completed when crossed wires caused a blaze.

This was quickly extinguished. Then the problem of where to get water confronted the villagers. Some one had a bright idea and three fire engines were sent to 72d street and Archer avenue, where a connection with the Chicago system was made.

THE CRIME OF DRINKING BEER.

Federal officers are taking witnesses before the federal grand jury to develop evidence against a beer syndicate. It is supposed to be an $800,000 affair and to have dealt with railroads, the police and flax, handling beer by car load lots in interstate transportation, and broke money by the barrel. Some police with good records are thought to be involved.

Beer is the cause of the best organized and most murderous crime the city has known. The beer gangs have fought all over the place, with each other and with the police. O'Bannon, three Gennas, and others are dead. Others have been shot up and survived. Others expect to shoot or be shot. Assassination and corruption are the business rules of the beer trade today.

Prior to the war prohibition act effective in 1919 and constitutional prohibition effective under the Volstead act in 1920, the drinking of beer was not a crime in the United States. It now underlies the worst crime in the city. Inherently it has not changed at all. The habit itself is as innocent now as it was six years ago.

About the worst thing the drys could say against beer was that it led to whisky. A citizen was supposed to start on the path to ruin by taking a glass of beer and wind up in the gutter by taking a whisky. That was not true. At least not often. Particularly out here in the midwest the customers in the early days were steady and frequently violent whisky drinkers. The beer habit followed immigration from continental Europe and it softened down the potations a great deal. Corn liquor was the stimulant and comfort of the pioneer and his descendants.

The lack of beer now leads to whisky and what is called whisky, stuff with the denaturing elements partly cooked out. Spirits of greater or less poisonous content can be obtained, but beer is hard to handle. A rum runner can do business without half the trouble the beer runner encounters.

The latter business needs a gang of murderers and corruptors. To gratify a harmless thirst for beer the gangsters must knock each other off and corrupt every official who can be tempted from honesty by bribes. If the great desire of the citizenship was for whisky the illicit beer trade would not be the storm center of crime. People want a mild and palatable beverage to which they were accustomed, and they cannot get it legally, and there is little of it that they can get which is genuine. It is doctored and doctored, needed and shot with raw alcohol or ether or anything to make it vicious. A beer drinker used to get a large one for a nickel. Now he will pay thirty or fifty cents or more for anything any one tells him is beer.

The profits of the trade, when it can get by the law, are enormous. There is a great deal of money and the enforcement officers know where it is. Its worst effect is when the city police decide to get some of it. Brave men of fine records in handling of desperate crime have been unable to resist the temptation of all this money. They have been ordered to mix up in the business of keeping real beer from the coffee shops and there is the flood of gold if they want to dip into it. It has been a moral overstrain in many instances. The cause of the crime and corruption undermining law and order is a habit which no sensible person who knew anything about it ever regarded as vicious or harmful. Beer drinking as the great mass of drinkers used the beverage as an innocent gratification of an appetite for a palatable beverage. The use did not lead to violence.

An Intemperate law considering none of the facts made beer drinking a crime, and communities have been overrun by the crime which was intertempore. It does not represent the policy of an intelligent people. It is doing them injury which grows and spreads out. Something which was not a crime has been called one, and we see the consequences.

ONLY THEODORE.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy, in passing through Chicago, said that Col. William Mitchell was "an impudent and wrong-headed trouble maker." Mr. Robinson is assistant secretary of the navy because, as his first name, Theodore, is intended to indicate, he is a nephew of Theodore Roosevelt, a great President and a great friend of the navy. Mr. Robinson's importance in the decisions of his country is confined to the implications of his first name. Col. Mitchell is a fearless soldier. He is to be tried by court martial, charged with conduct unbecoming of an officer. Any one of his military judges would testify to his value as a fighting man to his country. He has taken a chance that he will be thrown out of the service to which he has devoted his life. He already has been demoted. His offense is that he tried to save his country from the consequences of what he regarded as grave and possibly fatal mistakes in aviation. Some of his ideas may be wrong. His methods may have been wrong. Possibly the discipline of the service will require, in the opinion of the military court, that he be further punished, but the sincerity and unselfishness of his motives protect him from Mr. Robinson's opinions. The impudence is to the other quarter.

If the post of assistant secretary of the navy is a retention of the Roosevelt family, we hope the succession better luck another time.

RENDERING THE GUNMAN JUSTICE BY THE GUN.

Captain of Detectives Stege has dispatched the hardest hitting, hardest shooting members of his force to hunt out and handle notorious gunmen. The police will shoot.

Under any other circumstances we should shoot down such extra-legal action on the part of an officer sworn to uphold the law. We should demand that the offending police captain be taught the right of every man, no matter what his crime, to trial by jury and all the other protective paraphernalia the law casts about the accused. We should feel this way and do this, were the intentions of the law, to render justice, being fulfilled.

The intentions of the law are not being fulfilled. Justice is not being rendered. In the present state of crime and disregard for law in which Chicago finds itself, its machinery of law enforcement crippled by incompetence, corruption, public lethargy, and an archaic code, all we can do is regretfully to applaud the detective captain and his squads who bag every gunman they go after.

Capt. Stege has limited his list of quarry to gunmen whose criminal records are unquestionable. He has included no doubtful cases. Any one on the list is fair prey.

It does not require a depraved nature on the part of a policeman to be willing to engage in such a quest. It is not a matter of starting something. The gunmen took the initiative long ago, took it shooting. Every time a policeman comes within pistol range of a gunman he chances death. He has risked his life time after time in arresting dangerous men, only to have as his reward the sight of the gunman turned out on to the street again. The gunman has always had the chance to take the first shot. It is time the policeman had a fair break.

Instead of rendering justice, legal methods have resulted in injustice. It is a very crude sort of justice Capt. Stege's men are preparing to hand out. But it is justice.

NO WALLS NORTH.

Canada is electing the dominion parliament this week. So far as the United States is concerned, the principal issue is the tariff. The Conservatives, who now have 50 of the 235 seats, want a high tariff as a reply to the Fordney tariff in our country. The Liberals, who now have 117 seats, favor the creation of a tariff board of experts to devise schedules giving moderate protection to Canadian products. The Progressives, who are free-traders, control another 65 seats. Unless there has been a striking turnabout in Canadian opinion, the low tariff parties will continue in control.

We have always favored a moderate tariff policy toward Canada. We have thought of Canada as the northern stratum of an economic unit extending from the Arctic to the tropics. Our continent has all kinds of climates and resources and it produces all but a very few of the important commodities in the world's commerce. It is natural and desirable that the products of one climate on our continent should be exchanged for those of another. The important exchange is to Canada. The United States is revealed by last year's trade statistics. In that year we bought $436,000,000 worth of Canadian goods and Canada bought $661,000,000 worth from us. Canada is our second best customer and, despite our tariff barrier, we took almost as much Canadian goods as did the entire British empire. As Canada's resources are developed and her population increases, our trade with her will increase. It would be a misfortune if tariff barriers were to force agriculture and industry in either country into unnatural channels. The continent is the economic unit and the legislators of both nations should act accordingly. Generally speaking, wages and the conditions of production are alike on both sides of the undeveloped frontier. Neither nation has to protect itself from the other's unfair competition. Regardless of the outcome of the Canadian election, our country should work toward reciprocity with Canada and an eventual tariff union.

NO FURTHER REDUCTION IN NAVIES.

President Coolidge has dropped a hint that this country is willing to enter a conference looking toward further naval disarmament. We hope no one takes him up.

We don't want our navy any smaller. It is now only a skeleton. A navy is a delicately adjusted instrument. Its effectiveness depends upon a balance of the parts—battleships, destroyers, cruisers, and the rest. If we reduce our sea armament any farther, we shall find ourselves with only a few units of the most important sorts. The failure of a single piece of mechanism which at our present strength would weaken us might then prove disastrous. When we have eighteen battleships, the failure of a turret or even of an entire ship to function on the day of battle need not mean defeat; it could not mean anything else if we were reduced to eight or ten units.

This country cannot afford to risk its security for a few millions of dollars a year.

THE USELESS PENNY.

[New York World.]

Meditating weighty affairs, we finger a bright new penny and suddenly a thought arises: "What will this penny buy? Well, what will it buy? A few years ago it had a mighty purchasing power. It would buy a pea-shooter, a strap of licorice, six gum drops, a handful of BB shot.

A little later it was still worth something. It would buy chewing gum and a brace of cigars in the days when the corner smoke house used to keep a loose package on the shelves for sporty young men of thirteen who didn't bother with a whole package. And a few years later it would buy something or other, one cannot just remember what. But now its purchasing power is as mythical as that of the French centime.

One racks the brain in vain to think of something it will buy. It might buy a box of matches, but the clear stores give them away free, and one would walk a long way to find a place that has them for sale. . . . Time passes. Has the penny vanished except as a means of making change? Then the little pillar of our democracy has crumbled! Give us back our bright new penny, and give us something to buy with it!

DROPPED STOMACH.

It has been estimated that almost one thousand letters asking about "dropped stomach" come to this department each year. Of these, more than three-fourths come from New York City; and of the three-fourths, nearly all that ask about "dropped stomach" are from Jews, or, at any rate, of Jewish names indicate that. What is the answer to these questions?

Why do so many people have dropped stomach?

Why are so many of this group Jews from New York?

Can anything be done about the condition of body? the condition of mind? the general situation?

What? The fact is, that in a certain sense, dropped stomach is rather prevalent. A baby at birth has a stomach not much larger than a hickory nut and tucked up almost under its arms. From the day of birth almost to the day of death, the stomach keeps on enlarging and dropping. At first the process is rather rapid. Then it is very slow. Then it stops, or almost stops. Frequently it enlarges too much and drops too low. But what of it? Sometimes the enlarging and dropping does harm. Sometimes it does not.

Order once said that the worst feature of dropped kidney was knowing about it. Until a person had been told he had a dropped kidney, as a rule, he was all right. He might have a little discomfort. It was slight. But once he became aware he had a dropped kidney, he had a constant train of symptoms. God pity him and God pity the people who had to listen to his tales of woe! Just so with dropped stomach.

Why are so many of the people with dropped stomach located in New York City? I do not know, unless it is that the physicians of New York City have about as much business as doctors and of killing their patients about it.

Why are so many of the complainers of the Jewish race? Because the Jew is naturally given to introspection and to worry. While he does not worry about it, he is all right. But when he comes to his "liver and lights," he is the champion worrier.

What can be done about it? All the patient can do is to eat and drink with discretion and to keep his abdominal muscles strong by work and play. Operation is rather useless diagnosis. When they make it, let them keep it to themselves.

MORE TRANSPORTATION.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—Is the Belmont avenue car line to be extended to the city limits (Harlem avenue) this year? Is car line contemplated for Harlem avenue north to Irving Park boulevard? Are buses to be operated on Addison street west to Harlem avenue?

The extension of the Belmont avenue line west from its present terminal, Central avenue, is not at present contemplated.

There is no proposal for the construction of a car line on Harlem avenue at this time.

Chicago Motor Coach company has applied for permission to operate a bus line on Addison street to Long avenue, etc. It cannot be said definitely at this time whether permission will be granted.

LEO J. WINICKI, Commissioner of Public Service.

NATIVE BORN CITIZENS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—[Friend of the People.]—An alien came to this country to live, but never became naturalized. Are his sons who were born in the United States citizens of the United States and are they allowed to vote? In what way does this status affect the sons' wives?

J. P.

The children born in the United States are native born citizens and are entitled to the privileges of voting.

The citizenship of the father in no way affects the citizenship status of the sons' wives.

SIDEWALK SHUT OFF.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—A contractor who is building at Blackstone near Fifty-third street has shut off the sidewalk, forcing people to walk in the middle of the street. The traffic is heavy here. It seems the pedestrians should have at least one-half of the sidewalk.

The superintendent of the fifth ward makes the following report on this complaint: "On account of caving in of sidewalk resulting from use of steam shovel, the contractor was forced to delay building of the sidewalk on these streets. Construction of walk has been begun on 53rd street and when this is built will be built on Blackstone avenue."

THOMAS H. BYRNE, Superintendent of Streets.

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—A meeting of the National Lincoln Monument association, with Gov. Oglesby presiding, it was announced that the monument fund for the late President had reached $51,225.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Judge Claypool and Dan Vorhees came to blows over a point at last at Greencastle. Neither man was injured, but the match cost them each $10.

HALIFAX.—The S. S. Africa with dates from London reports great excitement in England over correspondence between the Russian and the foreign office, and Mr. Adams, the American minister, relative to the claims of the United States for damages done by rebel pirates.

CHICAGO.—Delegates to the Cook County Republican union convention nominated candidates for county offices to be elected at the November elections. Harmony prevailed at the meeting.

NEW YORK.—Public sale of Irish Republican bonds, authorized to be issued by the recent Fenian congress, will commence in two weeks. The bonds bear 5 per cent and are redeemable six months after the independence of the Irish nation has been acknowledged.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1900.

CHICAGO.—More than 125,000 persons are expected to march today in the "Prosperity Parade." Pleasant weather is predicted. Estimates are that it will take the line more than twelve hours to pass the grandstand from Hanna.

CHICAGO.—State street between Randolph and Van Buren streets will be the forum tonight for Democratic oratory, enthusiasm and red fire. In this stretch of spindlers, including Adlai E. Stevenson, Bryan's running mate, Senator J. C. Blackburn of Kentucky, and Congressman Joseph Bailey of Texas, will address the crowds from wagons.

NEW YORK.—Richard Mansfield, appearing in "King Henry the Fifth," became furious last night because of the thunderous din of the Roosevelt rally. He sent a note to the managers of the meeting in which he asked them to "make some effort to suppress the disturbance, as it is excessively annoying to me." In half an hour the messenger returned with the answer. It consisted of a handbill stating Mr.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1915.

CHICAGO.—One man was killed and three injured in a garment workers' strike riot. A week ago the city council ordered the chief of police to cancel permits for special policemen at the plants of the garment manufacturers, to protect life and property during the strike, and the result was that when the riot broke out no police were near.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Thompson and his aids picked their school slate. It is For superintendent of schools, John D. Shoup; for president of the board of education, the Rev. John P. Brueningham.

LONDON.—With the junction of the German and Austrian troops in the northeast by the occupation of all Serbian ports on the Danube, the Teutons are rolling the Serbians back all along the line.

BERLIN.—On the eastern battle front the Germans have renewed fierce attacks against the Russian fortified line along the Dvina river, with the object of taking Riga and Dvinsk.

SAN ANTONIO.—John Lind of Minnesota, for many months President Wilson's special representative in Mexico, is again headed for that country. It is understood he is going as an adviser to Carranza and will assist in establishing a stable government.

CHICAGO.—Dr. William C. Hickson, speaking before the American Society of Hygiene association's conference, declared that society is all wrong in its treatment of the "scarlet woman." He said: "Closing up vice districts here and there is nothing but a fallacy; for the girls only move on to some other place."

PARIS.—President Poincare and Minister of War Millerand met King George of England on the Anglo-French front and reviewed the British troops.

Yet people rush from Illinois to the White mountains, to Virginia, to Northwest Canada, to California, to Mexico. And right down in their own state is quaint, lovely, old Etown. THE LAND OF THE FREE.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The editorial, "The Old Lady in the State Department," hit the bull's eye. However, since the state department is not the whole government of the United States, there must be other old ladies in the executive branch of the government to make possible such an outrage against fundamental Americanism as the Karolyi incident. I don't know whether those present at cabinet meetings ever raise their voices in song. It would be worth going to Washington to see Mr. Kellogg, with quivering voice and trembling knees, leading his associates in those words reminiscent of the days when we really were a free and virile people, "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

HAROLD L. ICKES.

LITERATURE ON THIS PAGE.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Your editorial, "Everything Wrong Here," was literature. Such an appearance of beautiful letters at once sends one to the heights in thinking that there is hope in otherwise stale journalism, and then to the depths in thinking that such talent is wasted. The literary style of Joyce, Cabell, Hecht, and France is collected by the editor in that last paragraph.

This evens my score with newspapers. Some time ago I was applying for a job at a St. Louis paper. Three times I saw the editor, and each time I carried books, to make an impression. The first time I carried some things by Machen and Cabell. The second time I had a book of Melville's "Fables," and my copy of "Ulysses." The editor was not impressed. The third time I carried a book of poems by Edgar Guest, whereupon he beamed. I laughed and returned not a fourth time.

Sir, you have done a commendable deed.

SWEAR JURORS FOR TRIAL OF GENNA GUNMEN

Prosecution Today Asks
Hanging of Both.

The hanging jury to determine the fate of Albert Anselmi and John Scallan, Genna gunmen, was completed yesterday. First Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman will start the trial this morning with his opening statement and will insist that only one penalty, death on the gallows, is the proper one to be meted out to the slayers of two policemen.

The last member of the jury was selected suddenly just as court was about to adjourn. John Sahlin, 1139 South Home avenue, Oak Park, an electrical engineer, was examined by the defense and several times Attorney Michael Ahern attempted to disqualify him. Sahlin said he was in favor of the death penalty and had no opinion, but said he could not hear well because of a cold.

Rejects Associates' Plan.
Attorneys Thomas D. Nash and Patrick H. O'Donnell, associate defense counsel, urged Ahern to use a peremptory challenge when he failed in his attempts to excuse the juror. Instead, Ahern tendered Sahlin to the state and state's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, without asking a question, arose and said, "Swear the jury." Before the defense could object, the oath was administered and the jury, which it has taken more than three weeks to select, was sworn in.

The jurors are Felix J. Laporte, 3139 Myrtle avenue, Harvey; Earl D. Wharton, 3608 Le Moynes street; John Sahlin, 1139 South Home avenue, Oak Park; James E. Vistain, 2434 South Sacramento avenue; W. J. McElroy, 725 Wesley avenue, Oak Park; Alex M. Blumenthal, 5617 Wayne avenue; Fred W. Runge, 1743 North Kedzie avenue; William R. Sibley, 4052 Dickens avenue; William F. Rupp, 853 North Laramie avenue; F. A. Hamner, 7451 Kingston avenue; Anton C. Gill, 2436 North Kimball avenue; and Lawrence S. Watt, 36 North Mayfield avenue.

Victim's Mother First Witness.
The first witness of the trial will be Mrs. Myrtle Olson, mother of Policeman Harold Olson, one of the men killed. She is a deaf mute, and an interpreter will be required to take her testimony. After the formality of proving the corpus delicti the state will proceed with the testimony of Police Officer Michael Conway and Sgt.

William Sweeney, the survivors of the battle with gunmen.
Chief of Police Morgan Collins and Chief of Detectives William Schomaker were called into conference last night by Prosecutor Crowe to prepare to rattle testimony of the thirty-four state witnesses. Detectives were ordered to bring in all the witnesses this morning so that there will be no chance of intimidation.

Howlitt to Face Trial on Nov. 6 for Shooting Eberle

George Howlitt, 1014 Sheridan road, arraigned yesterday before City Judge Francis Borelli on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with the shooting Oct. 17, of Dr. W. R. Eberle, 2435 East 74th street, was given a continuance until Nov. 6.

There was a party in the home of Mrs. Eugene Clodwick, 6127 Oglesby avenue, and Howlitt is said to have become jealous of Eberle because of a girl.

IDENTIFIED AS SWINDLER.
Edward Russell, 30, of 2432 Indiana avenue, was identified yesterday as the man who swindled Sam Aronetta of Chicago, Mo., out of $1,100 by matching pennies. Russell is also charged with attempting to sell David Sweenik, 617 South State street, a lawbreaker, a money making machine.

ASHER DEATH FROM NATURAL CAUSES, VERDICT

James L. Asher, prohibition agent and undercover man for E. C. Yellow, prohibition administrator, who died Sunday in his rooms at the St. George hotel, 1435 East 60th street, came to his death by natural causes, a coroner's jury decided yesterday.

Deputy Coroner Michael A. Kosciuszko, conducting the inquest, read to the jury statements from Coroner's Physician Joseph Springer and Dr. Clyde King, the physician who attended Asher, in which they attributed his death to cerebral hemorrhages.

James LeRoy Asher Jr., son, who is in the prohibition service at Columbus, O., made arrangements to send the body to Richmond, Va., where interment will take place. Richmond is the home of Asher's mother.

In a statement issued yesterday at Washington, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, eulogized the dry agent's record.

TO ASK CONGRESS FOR DEATH TAX ON ONE-HAND GUNS

Federal Law Discussed by House Committee.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—A federal anti-gun, totting law, in the form of a prohibitive excise on one-hand guns, is a possibility during the coming session of congress, it was indicated in today's hearing of the house ways and means committee.

At least one bill, prepared by Chief Justice William McAdoo of New York, barring foreign importations and providing levies intentionally high enough to discourage domestic manufacture of one-hand guns, is ready for consideration, it was announced by Representative Mills (Rep., N. Y.).

Others as drastic are contemplated elsewhere and Representative Mills named C. L. Ransom, president of the Remington Arms company and a witness before the committee, that American arms manufacturers would do well to agree on an alternative scheme for regulation of the traffic before congress convenes.

Gun Maker Would Stand Pat. As spokesman for the gun manufacturers, Mr. Ransom pleaded for removal of all taxes on other firearms and ammunition, but recommended that the ten per cent levy on pistols and revolvers be left unchanged, according to the idea that legislation the removal of existence would decrease crime.

The failure of laws passed in the various states to curb the promiscuous sale of revolvers has resulted in demand for federal action, according to Representative Mills, who said that if uniformity of regulations could not be secured among the states, the government's police power might be invoked, as it had been to suppress the traffic in habit forming drugs.

With the importation of foreign made pistols barred, the strictly legitimate business would be ample to support domestic manufacturers, Mr. Ransom told the committee.

Planning to Halt the Killers. It was developed during the discussion that out of a total of 179,000 for-sign revolvers imported into the United States last year, a large percentage eventually were devoted to criminal purposes. Regulations requiring manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of pistols to be licensed and prohibiting the sale of the weapons to citizens, who had not first been licensed by local peace authorities were proposed by Representative Mills.

"How do pistol deaths compare with those caused by bombs—that seems to be the popular method of assassination in Chicago just now?" asked Representative Rainey (Dem., Ill.).

Mr. Ransom cited New York's experience with the drastic Sullivan law and the failure of the Texas statutes imposing a 100 per cent tax on small arms as an indication of the futility of state regulations to halt the deadly use of revolvers. Both efforts were nullified, he pointed out, by the ease with which guns may be obtained from abroad or from other states.

DINES POSTPONES WEDDING TO GET AFFAIRS IN SHAPE

Denver, Colo., Oct. 26.—[AP.]—The marriage of Courtland S. Dines, wealthy Denver clubman, to Miss Helen Gibson, Denver society girl, has been postponed until Dines gets "his affairs into shape."

This was his statement to the Associated Press today in explaining why the nuptials, set for yesterday, were not carried out.

Dines came into national prominence on New Year's eve, 1924, when he was shot and seriously wounded in his Hollywood, Cal., apartment, where he was entertaining Mabel Normand and Edna Purviance, motion picture actresses. H. A. Groer, Miss Normand's chauffeur, was tried for the shooting, but was acquitted.

Rent savers—these files!

Their triple utility increases the efficiency of costly office space

EVERY precious square foot of office space should be made to earn its keep. Scientific departmentizing and arranging of offices greatly increases office efficiency, while decreasing office rent.

To aid this development in business efficiency Library Bureau originated the L. B. Counterheight unit. This unit combines a threefold office need. It is a filing cabinet; a counter; a table—all in one.

As a filing cabinet . . . the L. B. Counterheight may be used for correspondence, card records, daily reports, or a variety of papers.

As a counter . . . the L. B. Counterheight is the correct 42-inch height to do business over. It is adaptable to almost any shape or size of space, for it is made in single units which intermember rigidly, forming a smooth top.

As a sorting table . . . the battleship linoleum top provides a smooth working surface, at the proper height for sorting the day's correspondence, checks or other papers.

L. B. Counterheight units are made in wood as well as steel. The wood units are of quartered white oak or African mahogany.

PUBLIC NAVY'S GUESTS TODAY AT CELEBRATION

U. S. N. in Full Dress for 150th Anniversary.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The navy will be at home to the public everywhere throughout the United States tomorrow in celebration of the 150th anniversary of its founding.

Selected on the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, the day falls in the week during which, in 1775, bills were reported to the continental congress for $100,000 to outfit armed vessels for use in the revolution. Early in November of that year, those bills were enacted and in the same month rules for the regulation of the navy of the United States colonies were considered and adopted.

Backed by Coolidge. The celebration has been approved by President Coolidge, as planned under the auspices of the Navy League of the United States in cooperation with a number of patriotic societies. The program calls for navy yards and all other shore stations to be thrown open to public inspection, while all available ships have been sent to different ports for the public to visit.

Orders have been issued by Secretary Wilbur for ships at the various ports "to full dress ship," while naval officers in Washington and at shore stations who ordinarily appear in civilian clothes will wear their blue uniforms. Army officers also, as a compliment to the navy, will appear in uniform.

Wilbur to Speak. The speaking program began today with an address on naval aviation problems by Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, at Des Moines, Ia., and one tonight by radio from New York on "The Ideals of the Navy," by Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations. A similar subject will be taken by Secre-

M'KINLEY, DENEEN FAVOR COOLIDGE'S WORLD COURT STAND

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Both United States senators from Illinois, McKinley and Deneen, favor entrance of the United States into the world court.

Responding to queries from the Illinois State Register, Senator McKinley wrote: "I propose by my vote to endorse the plan for a court of arbitration recommended by President Coolidge. I feel that President Coolidge has very much at heart the establishment of peace and good understanding between nations so far as it is humanly possible to bring same about."

Senator Deneen's answer was: "I favor entering the world court and so expressed myself repeatedly during the campaign."

Secretary Wilbur in an address tomorrow at Philadelphia.

Assistant Secretary Robinson will speak tomorrow at Rochester, N. Y., and Maj. Gen. John A. Le Jeune, commandant of the marine corps, will speak at Minneapolis.

GOODHUE ENDS LIFE IN LAKE; ILL TWO YEARS

Note Is Found with Body Near Baltimore.

(Picture on back page.) Baltimore, Md., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—The body of A. Homer Goodhue, 47, mechanical engineer and president of A. H. Barber Creamery Supply company, Chicago, who disappeared last Friday while undergoing treatment at Johns Hopkins hospital, was found today in Lake Roland near this city. His home was in Winnetka. His wife was here with him and will take the body home.

Goodhue's coat and vest were found on the banks of the lake by Boy Scouts. In a wallet in the pocket of his coat was found a note, which read:

"This is a beautiful spot in which to end the long battle for freedom from the bewildering conditions that have beset me."

Ill for Two Years.

Goodhue has been ill for two years. He recently suffered a nervous breakdown, his wife said, and was in a despondent condition when he left home Friday morning to go to the hospital.

He never reached the hospital, but Friday afternoon he telephoned his home and asked for his wife, who was out.

That was the last heard of him until his coat was found on the banks of the lake.

Another note, dated Sunday, addressed to his wife, was found in the pocket. It read: "If anything should happen to me please look upon it only as a measure to save you from prolonged distress and all the worry and inconvenience. I have tried to be brave and as careful of you as could be, and anything I do is done to that purpose."

"I have advised you of my wishes regarding the children and now I ask you to be generous to my sisters and say to them I would have you do it."

Love for Children.

This letter also described his "great love for his wife and children, Patricia, 14, and Ruth, 4, and adds: "I think it fair to them to leave and make peace with my God."

Goodhue was a graduate of the Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, in the class of 1899.

Mother! Look daily for film on child's teeth

That's often a danger sign of tooth and gum troubles. If the dentifrice you now use doesn't combat it successfully, it's inadequate. How to combat it—the new way in child's tooth care specialists recommend.

FOREMOST dental authorities now advise a new way in caring for a child's teeth and gums. A way different in formula, action and effect from any other method.

As a nation-wide hygienic movement, a 10-day test is offered mothers free.

You are urged to make it. To see what modern science is doing for the better protection of children's teeth and gums. Simply use the coupon.

What film indicates. Why it must be fought several times daily

Look at your child's teeth. If cloudy, dull, discolored, there's a film. And that film is often a danger sign. The child can feel it by running his tongue across his teeth.

Ordinary tooth pastes won't combat it successfully. Try the one you now use. See if the film does not still remain.

Film is a viscous coat that clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It makes pearly teeth ugly, discolored—dingy. It lays gums open to bacterial attack. Many a child is handicapped in this way.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Pretty Teeth and Firm Gums

Now modern science has found a safe way to combat film.

This new method, embodied in the tooth paste called Pepsodent, provides the scientifically proved combatant that is being adopted by the people of some 50 nations. Its action is to curdle the film, then harmlessly to remove it; then to firm the gums.

Test Tube Free

Don't you think it worth while, in justice to your children, and in fairness to yourself, to try it for ten days? The test will cost you nothing. Use the coupon for a 10-day tube, free.

WISCONSIN TO FIGHT FOR TAX ON BEGGS ESTATE

Contests Probating Will in Florida.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Suit to collect between three and ten million dollars in inheritance tax from the estate of John L. Beggs, Milwaukee traction owner, will be started in Milwaukee county, it was announced today by District Attorney Eugene Wenger.

The estate has been variously estimated at between thirty and fifty million dollars. The estate will claim, it is said, that Mr. Beggs was a resident of Florida and not of Wisconsin.

Attorney General Herman Ekern will appear in the action in behalf of the state, Mr. Wenger announced.

Mr. Beggs held other large interests in many companies throughout the United States. He died last week.

Mr. Wenger said the first step toward the collection of the tax would be to resist the probating of the will in the Florida courts and an insistence that the will be offered for probate in Wisconsin, which he claims was the legal residence of the testator.

One to Chair, the Other to Pen on Girl's Charge

Swainsboro, Ga., Oct. 26.—Convicted of criminally attacking a young white woman, C. A. Wheeler has been sentenced to die in the electric chair, and Wheeler, alleged companion, W. A. Nashaw, has been sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The young woman was hiking from New York to Florida. She testified the two men offered her a ride in an automobile, took her to their home, and attacked her.

Levee Break Inundates 2,500 Acres of Crops

Kennett, Mo., Oct. 26.—(AP)—About 2,500 acres of cotton and corn have been inundated by the levee break on the St. Francis and Vazquez rivers, near here. Damage is expected to approximate between $50,000 and $100,000. A section of about five or six miles long and about three miles wide is under water.

Booze Made Her Fat, So She Quit, Woman Testifies

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Declaring that she always had exhibited "a mother's love" toward her son, that she "was never intoxicated in her life," Mrs. Mary Casey Thorne, divorced wife of the late Joel Wolfe

Thorne, today submitted to a resumption of her examination in the proceedings brought to have her appointed guardian of her 11 year old son, Joel Wolfe Thorne. Asked when she had last touched liquor, she fixed the date at a year and a half ago, and added that she had given up drinking "because it is too expensive and because it is fattening."

CHINA DEMAND TARIFF FREEDOM AS PARLEY OPENS

Many Hurt as Students Clash with Police.

BY HERBERT ELLISTON
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PEKING, Oct. 26.—(Emulation)—The American example at the Washington conference, China put its cards on the table within a half an hour after opening of the special tariff conference today by outlining its case which it set forth in its right to a tariff. China's spokesman, Ching Ting-wang, who was back thousands of students waving banners. The students came into contact with the police in an attempt to bring their grievances to the attention of the delegates and powers. Many police and students hurt.

The conference opened in one of the winter palaces which was formerly used by Tuan Shao-cun of state.

Feng Backs Government.
The presence of two benches, Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian generalissimo, and Ching Ting-wang and Hwang, the conference showed that the general intends to support the government at the international conference. Feng is now said to have decided to maintain neutrality in the present dispute.

Ching Ting-wang submitted a case to the astonished delegates, and forcefully, in flawless English, he asked the powers normally to care their respect for China's autonomy and to agree to remove all tariff restrictions in the existing treaties. In return for this he China would agree to postpone its plebiscite until Jan. 1, 1919.

Meanwhile China, he said, would maintain a tariff of 5 per cent on ordinary goods and 30 per cent on luxuries. In addition to the tariff of 5 per cent on ordinary goods.

Shows Chinese Policy.
The new tariff law, which is subject to reciprocal agreements, raises for import duties ranging from 15 to 40 per cent, with higher rates on wines and tobacco. It was promulgated on Saturday to show the Chinese policy when it is in control of its customs.

For the American delegation, Mr. John MacMurray gave a strong impression of the American good toward China. Eki Hiki of Japan asserted that Japan would consider Chinese request in a spirit of business, but he said China must remove all restrictions which might interfere with trade between China and the power.

Mr. Hiki then advanced two as intermediate steps in meeting China's aspirations. The first provided for undefined statutory subject to conventional tariff on certain articles decided upon in treaties with the powers. The plan provided for a graduated rate at an average rate of 12 1/2 per cent.

CHINA DEMANDS TARIFF FREEDOM AS PARLEY OPENS

Many Hurt as Students
Clash with Police.

BY HERBERT ELLISTON.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PEKING, Oct. 26.—Emulating the American example at the Washington conference, China put its cards on the table within a half an hour after the opening of the special tariff conference today by outlining its case, in which it set forth its right to fix its own tariff. China's spokesman was Ching Ting-wang, who was backed by thousands of students waving yellow banners. The students came into violent collision with the police in their anxiety to bring their grievances to the attention of the delegates of the powers. Many police and students were hurt.

The conference opened in one of the buildings of the winter palace which was formerly used by Yuan Shai-kai's council of state.

Feng Backs Government.
The presence of two henchmen of Feng Yu-shiang, the Christian general—Chen Ting-wang and Hwangtu—at the conference showed that the radical general intends to support the government at the international parley. Feng is now said to have decided to maintain neutrality in the present conflict in South China.

Chen Ting-wang submitted China's case to the astonished delegates, loudly and forcefully, in faultless English. He asked the powers formally to declare their respect for China's tariff autonomy and to agree to removal of a tariff restrictions in the existing treaties. In return for this he said China would agree to postpone its application until Jan. 1, 1919. In the meantime China, he said, would levy a 5 per cent ad valorem tariff on all imports and 30 per cent on exports. In addition to the present tariff of 5 per cent, ad valorem.

Shows Chinese Policy.
The new tariff law, which is subject to reciprocal agreements, provides for import duties ranging from 10 to 40 per cent, with higher duties on wines and tobacco. It was promulgated on Saturday to show the conference China's policy when it regains control of its customs.

For the American delegation, Minister John MacMurray gave a general impression of the American good will toward China. Eki Hioki of Japan asserted that Japan would consider the Chinese request in a spirit of helpfulness, but he said China must remove all restrictions which might impede trade between China and the powers.

GROOM, WHO MET WITH FOUL PLAY, ARRIVES TARDILY

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—A melodrama in real life that had a beautiful bride, a brave hero, and a villain, was staged here Saturday and resulted in Miss Gertrude Hibbert waiting at the church at Irvington for a bridegroom who had been kidnapped, chloroformed, and then left by the roadside. The bridegroom was taken to the hospital, revived, had his clothes pressed, and the wedding was solemnized this evening, twenty-four hours behind scheduled time.

J. Lincoln Laffan, the bridegroom, said he was on his way to the church when he noticed his car was being followed by another machine. The pursuing car crowded him into a ditch and two masked men leaped out, seized him, and a handkerchief saturated with chloroform was thrust in his face. Laffan said he did not remember anything more until he was found by three youths near Glenville.

Exhibition Train to Display New South Wales Products

SYDNEY.—To stimulate secondary industries in the smaller centers of New South Wales and to popularize the products of home industry, several organizations are combining to promote an exhibition train which will carry its displays to 100 country towns throughout the State.

Where is the Richest Market?

A. E. Starkey, Editor, The Herald, Saugus, Mass., says:—

"THE country newspaper is an ideal advertising medium because it carries exactly the News its constituency wants to read.

"The country paper is thoroughly read, for it is read; it takes sides in local politics. Whether the folks agree with it or not they all like to read what it says. Local politics is greater than national—to the locality.

"We are accused of devoting a lot of space to small town news. This is true. When Mrs. William G. Smith sees that her flower beds are praised we have made her a friend for life. Just let us leave out a news item, omit a name, or spell a name wrong in a list of 'among those present' at a party and a dozen will drop in or phone to tell us about it.

"More people in our town are interested in our fellow townsman who has painted his house, than they are in the multi-millionaire who erects a million-dollar house on Long Island.

"In a town of 500 to 10,000 everybody is interested in the proposed schoolhouse bonds; they want to know how much money is to be spent; who will get the various jobs and how much the interest will amount to. They are interested because it means more taxes to pay. What city man, outside of the politicians, gives a hang about his schools or their cost? "If the national advertisers could see the power of newspapers in the country field as I do, they most certainly would use them consistently."

The American Press Association represents 7,213 country newspapers. There is no waste circulation. Each copy of a country newspaper has the personal interest of every member of the family.

The 47,778,000 readers are regular week in and week out readers. It is at near 100% coverage as can be bought. You can concentrate your advertising right on the spot where your goods are on sale. You can buy a group of towns, counties or states. Whatever your sales requirements demand can be met by country newspapers.

A PROTEST AGAINST DEPRECIATION

ROLLS-ROYCE

WHAT does it cost to own a Rolls-Royce? Compared with the average "good" car, a Rolls-Royce is the wisest investment a man can make. For instance:

In 1916 invested in a new car	$8,000.00
In 1919 invested in another car	6,000.00
($2000 allowed on 1916 model)
In 1922 invested in another car	6,000.00
($2000 allowed on 1919 model)
In 1925 he has invested	$20,000.00
And his 1922 model is now worth	2,000.00
Depreciation in 9 years	$18,000.00

Contrast this with the economy of owning a Rolls-Royce.

In 1916, a new Rolls-Royce investment at $14,500. In 1925, nine years later, the same Rolls-Royce is still giving superlative service—and has depreciated but 48 per cent in all that time. It is still good for ten or more years of service and today is worth, and can be actually sold for, at least $7500—one-half the cost of ordinary "good" car motoring.

Let us take you on a 100-mile trial trip. Arranged to your convenience. Over any roads you like.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

JUDGE TRIES TO SPEED UP TRIAL OF KLAN DRAGON

Attorneys Still Bickering
Over Jurymen.

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 26. — (AP) — Judge Will M. Sparks today took steps to hasten the selection of a jury to try D. C. Stephenson, Earl Kitch and Earl Gentry on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis.

Cross-questioning of prospective jurors will not be permitted after the court has ruled on challenges, Judge Sparks said. Both sides had persisted during the morning session in renewing interrogating of veniremen after a decision had been given. The prosecution was forced to use two peremptory challenges to remove men from the panel.

Defense Passes Jury.

John Golden, who had been in the box for several days, was excused after the defense had passed the jury to the state shortly before noon. It was the second time the state has been given the panel during the morning session.

Fred Graves was excused peremptorily by the state after it had tried for forty minutes to have him disqualified for cause.

When court resumed less than one-half of the third special venire was available and indications were that another hundred men would be ordered.

Removed 132 Men.

Defense counsel has succeeded in having removed for cause 132 men, as compared with 30 for the state. The defense has used nine of its 20 peremptory challenges, while the prosecution has made use of seven.

The difficulty in obtaining a jury has not shaken the confidence of the former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan or his bodyguards. Stephenson has watched each taleman closely. Each day he has conferred frequently with his attorneys. He said he expected to be acquitted.

Orphanage Head Held on Charge of Girl, 15

New York, Oct. 26. — (Special.) — Charged with criminal assault on a 15 year old orphan, Wilson Johnson, 40, superintendent of the Brooklyn Baptist orphanage, was arrested today. [Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune]
LONDON, Oct. 26. — The Privy Council today denied a petition of appeal by the defendants in the famous M. Begum dancing girl kidnapping case. It is rumored here that the case which centers on an attempt to lure Mumtaz, the beautiful dancer, mistress of the maharajah, is the result of the Indian government's protesting the abduction of the maharajah of Indore, Sir Tukoji Rao II. Thirty years ago the father of the present maharajah was forced to flee out of office after a similar case.

DENY APPEAL TO RAJAH'S AIDS IN DANCER SCANDAL

Indore's Ruler May Lose Throne Over Girl.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Privy council today denied a petition of appeal by the defendants in the famous Mumtaz Begum dancing girl kidnapping case. It is rumored here that the scandal, which centers on an attempt to recapture Mumtaz, the beautiful dancer and mistress of the maharajah, is likely to result in the Indian government suggesting the abdication of the maharajah of Indore, Sir Tukoji Rao Holkar. Thirty years ago the father of the present maharajah was forced to step out of office after a similar case. See Offense to Reading.
Belief that the case will bring political consequences is strengthened by report of word here that Lord and Lady Reading recently canceled a projected visit to Indore. Indian gossip says the maharajah offended the Reading's, but well informed circles interpret the incident as a definite forecast of the maharajah's doom.
The case brought out an Arabian Nights' tale of the fascinating dancer's thrilling escape from the maharajah's "harem," a long, intriguing chase by the ruler's agents, and her final attempted recapture on a dark road on Malabar hill last January—an attempt which was thwarted by the timely arrival of four British officers. Abdul Bawla, a young millionaire merchant of Bombay, who was motoring with Mumtaz when the attack occurred, was murdered in the fight.
Taken by Rajah at 14.
The story begins in a little village in central India in 1917, when the dancer, then 14 years old, was induced to enter the maharajah's retinue. Two years later Mumtaz vainly lodged a complaint, alleging that the maharajah's "major domo," who is sometimes called India's Rasputin, kidnapped her daughter. Meanwhile, the little beauty rapidly gained the ruler's favor. In 1921 Mumtaz accompanied Sir Tukoji to England, traveling in royal style, with a retinue suitable to her rank as the monarch's mistress.
The story also involves the spectacular rise to power of Sankar Rao, the maharajah's former valet, who, by a mysterious control gained over the ruler, became his major domo, with powers almost equal to a minister. Among Sankar's duties was that of keeping his master's harem filled with the most beautiful girls obtainable. As Mumtaz' prestige grew the intrigue began. She was charged with falling in love with Sankar, who had charge of many of the maharajah's treasures and all his jewels. Fearing disaster, she finally escaped.

Thereupon events began to take a rapid crescendo. Sankar was imprisoned and the monarch began a search of all India for the missing beauty, delegating Home Secretary Seram Sambhudayal to take personal charge of the pursuit. He traced the fugitive to Sumrat, where his agents haunted her, alternately threatening and coaxing her. Finally the former major domo's brother called and informed her that the maharajah said that unless she returned willingly he would "try other means."
Unarmed, Beat Attackers.
Shortly afterward the attack was made on the auto in which Mumtaz and Bawla were driving. A party of British officers, returning late at night, heard the screams, rushed, unarmed, to the rescue, and beat off the assailants. They finally captured the attackers, who included influential officers of Indore. After being found guilty at their trial they filed a petition for an appeal.

To Get Insurance Saver's Hand; Lacked the Policy

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—It was a sad awakening today for William Biggs, 47, who Saturday deliberately cut off his left hand with a razor in order to collect $500 insurance. Home Assurance company, in which Biggs believed he held the policy, it was revealed today, that he had signed only an application for insurance, and not a policy, and that he had made no payment. Biggs brought his wife and six children here two months ago from Logansport, Ind., but was unable to find steady employment.

For the OPERA

WHEN the maestro lifts his baton on the evening of November third, Chicago's opera season of 1925 is launched. On the stage, melody and movement and color. Beyond the footlights, stillness—but stillness asparkle with the starry silvered beauty of fashion, aflash with its vivid color.

In this manner do the modes of this new season pay their own glorious tribute. Here, these preceding days, women may come assured of making costume selections in perfect harmony with all this brilliancy, and of accessories as gracefully complementary—achieving a highly distinguished ensemble.

Eighty-nine per cent of our 8,000 employees are stockholders in this company. That means that they have a money-investment here, and that consequently, they are deeply interested in seeing that their work is properly performed.

They are drawing dividends monthly from the stock they hold, and they know that these dividends depend upon the kind of work they do and just how well they discharge their obligations to you.

We want them to be stockholders, and we encourage it by helping them to buy the stock on easy payments, because we want that particular kind of interest. The more stock they hold, the more careful they will be of you and your loved ones, the principles of this company and the preservation of its property.

To add to their interest and their ambitions and their care, we share with them the profits of the company before any dividends are paid. We give them free doctor's, dentist's, oculist's and hospital care. We insure their lives without cost to them. We loan them money, if they need it, at a very nominal rate of interest. We give them the benefit of free legal advice.

If these men are not happy, then they are constitutionally opposed to happiness. It was part of our original dream that contented men make the most faithful and efficient employees. And we carried out the dream, not through philanthropic motives, but because we knew it was the most fertile soil for growth.

Behind these men is the MORAL, ORGANIZED and FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY which makes Yellow Cab as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. Wouldn't you rather ride with such men, and such a company, than with men who have nothing behind them but a cab?

OUTCAST

SYNOPSIS.
A small band of crooks, with a solitary fragment of respectability among them, arrive at Gravitick, the home of Sir Adrian Shale, one of England's richest men. The band consists of a woman, Mrs. Winchell, Uncle Charles Montague, Beauty Bill Gibbons, and Doris Winchell, who has been a charity child of an orphanage and who possesses the only bit of respectability in the group. Doris had been a charity child of an orphanage and later a slave in a paragonage. This interesting story began in The Tribune yesterday. Start to read it today.

INSTALLMENT II.

WHEREIN A GHOST APPEARS.

It was rather a shabby little house, and often it was shut up for months at a time, but somehow they always contrived to pay the rent, whatever happened. And there, Mrs. Winchell and Uncle Charles would sink into their winter campaign, Uncle Charles with his old briar pipe and a stubby bit of pencil to mark his fancy in tomorrow's sporting events, Mrs. Winchell, whose familiar name was Mimi, mending a sock and quite likely smoking a cigarette at the same time, while she begged her husband kindly to remember that whatever brilliant ideas he had up his sleeve, there must be no possibility of them for landing himself or her in prison again.

Mimi's nerve was broken as regarded prison. Twice she had "gone up" for short stretches. Once for a common thing like shoplifting, which did not pass successfully for kleptomania, and once for an error of judgment on Uncle Charles's part. He had put her up to something which the offended party described in court as attempted blackmail, and the jury agreed with him. Mimi got six months on that occasion. She hoped never again to see the hard place.

The introduction of Beauty Bill to their select company occurred when Doris was seventeen. They had had other friends, other affiliations, but none were satisfactory than that of the young man who was reformed in Gravitick as wealthy, lecherous Mr. William Gibbons. The four of them formed an ideal combination. There was ripe wisdom and there was gentle maturing beauty, there was manly youth and one shred of honest to heaven innocence.

The plot against Sir Adrian Shale, millionaire of Gravitick, was straight forward and simple. In Mrs. Winchell's uneasy mind, it was almost too.

She entered the Albergo Serinaldo and found already gathered there two other guests of her own nationality.

She entered the Albergo Serinaldo and found already gathered there two other guests of her own nationality.

simple to succeed. It amounted merely to this: The gang knew Lady Shale was not dead and decently buried in the English cemetery of that retired Italian town where she was supposed to have died. The gang knew she was very much alive, although apparently not in a position to acknowledge her continued existence.

The news had been stumbled upon accidentally, as is often the case with matters of importance. Mimi—Mrs. Winchell—was the stumbler. She possessed an uncanny knack of it. Mrs. Winchell was one of those people to whom things are always happening. Once, in a lonely country lane, she had turned over a heap of autumn leaves with her foot—an idle impulse—and touched a little jingling canvas bag which proved to hold four hundred and sixty-eight golden sovereigns. But who could tell that it had been an idle impulse? Is the work of an intelligent cocker spaniel, nosing the hedge rows, impulse? Instinct is a better word.

Mimi had fear, feeling, instinct. Whatever one likes to call it. She had experienced that feeling in excelsis for quite a time before she stumbled upon Lady Shale much as she had stumbled on the bagful of sovereigns. And it was not an excited feeling; rather one of depression. She awoke on the morning of the day itself, clearly certain that something was going to happen, because she felt rotten and miserable. And, heaven knew, they needed something to happen. Almost down on their beam ends until Beauty Bill turned up unexpectedly with some change in his pockets out of a disappointing afternooning job. Very little he had, but enough to inspire doubtful hope; enough to get them all back to England, anyway.

Monte Carlo had been their complete undoing. Mimi's and Charles's, but it gave Beauty Bill quite a run for his bit of money and almost inspired him to forsake all dishonest and arduous means of gaining a livelihood in favor of the gaming tables, so respectable and easy. In the end, however, the tables turned, and Beauty Bill suddenly remembered that it had happened before, several times.

It was a cruel day, that. They were business people, and, of course, they had their working capital to fall back upon. But falling back upon working capital gives one to think rather seriously. Mrs. Winchell's way of thinking was to hire a powerful motor car, have a few sandwiches packed up, and tell the chauffeur to take her far, far away over the frontier somewhere to some forgotten Italian village. She had a strong revulsion of feeling where Monte Carlo was concerned. Besides, she had her premonition, her hunch as she called it.

The chauffeur drove her to Serinaldo, a truly forgotten mountain top where which nearly thirty years ago was half destroyed by an earthquake. The other half—less than half, really—struggled on, and from the look of the place the inhabitants supported themselves by selling each other some wine. As one knows, there is never any approach to the summit of those old rock villages except on foot, up narrow, arduous passages, where one presumes a clumsy way to let a burdened donkey pass, and where the cobbled way is painful and steep, dark, and—once suspects—verminous. And every other hole in the dank, gloomy stonework on either side, advertises itself as the entrance to a place where one can obtain refreshment. Estaminet, albergo, or merely vino—it all amounts to the same thing.

Estaminet, albergo, or merely vino—it all amounts to the same thing.

Totting up, after leaving her hired car and chauffeur comfortably parked on the grassy slope at the foot of the village, Mrs. Winchell wondered if it were worth all this trouble just to say she had seen the "donkey who marches like a man," the picture in Serinaldo's church which was Serinaldo's only mention in the fat guide book.

"An unfinished painting," said the guide book, "popularly ascribed to Giotto. Visitors will note that the ass bearing the holy family has only two legs, the rear part of its body being uncompleted. The remarkable feature of this picture is that one of the beast's forelegs is raised and bent at the knee, in such a manner that the impression is conveyed of a man marching." Mrs. Winchell—Mimi—was not seriously interested in the picture of the ass, but more certain of herself, although she had long ago discovered the reputation of any sort of knowledge, however obscure. There was no bit so small that some time one might find occasion for it.

It had been hot in the sun, but it was chilly cold in those damp shadows. From one of the cave-like interiors showed the fiftieth letter, looked like a parchment, more certain of itself than any of the other refreshment invitations. There was a small of roasted coffee and a window with bottles of various little rolls sprinkled with anise seed, a plate of mandarin, and another of figs. More promising this; almost a promise of hospitality.

Mimi thought of her sandwiches and how well a bowl full of hot coffee would go with them.

She entered the Albergo Serinaldo, and found already foregathered there other guests of her own nationality, a man and a woman, and the woman, who was the richest and most important and reputable of England's self.

Mimi had met Lady Shale at a fashionable charity fête in London, and at the same time had met Lady Shale's great friend from whom afterwards she obtained a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian. The letter, which was a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, the wife of the richest and most important and reputable of England's self.

Good Morning!
Far be it from us to wish to repeat ourselves BUT

Knowing that you are probably in a fine frenzy because of the pictures reviewed yesterday and the theaters where they are being shown were omitted with careless elegance from this column, we hasten to right the wrong. Reprinted then are the criticisms on "The Winding Stair" and "Flower of the Night" with what SHOULD have gone with them yesterday.

Life, the winding stair referred to. Want to reach the top? Keep right on toiling upwards. If you stub your toe and tumble down a few flights—never mind! Pick yourself up and be more careful in the future. Sooner or later you'll get there—if you don't die in the attempt!

Moral and everything, you see, to this film.

It is an adaptation from a novel by A. E. W. Mason and concerns a young officer of the French legion, stationed in Morocco. His love for a beautiful and unfortunate dancing girl causes him the title of deserted, and for a long time he finds himself floundering about the first landing of the stairway.

The world war, however, gives him a new impetus upward and through heroism under fire he regains all his lost ground, leaps up the remaining distance and we leave him happy and honored.

You may not think a great deal of the story—don't think you will—but you will find it immensely everybody in the cast and find that the action makes our heart beat faster than normal now.

Edmund Lowe is a fine and likable hero. The lovely and luscious Alma Rubens is ever so winning as the girl, and the picture is a masterpiece of the stage.

CLOSEUPS

Alice Joyce has just signed her name to a long term Paramount contract.

Virginia Vall continues to deny that while in Paris she took steps to sever the tie that has been binding her husband, Demarest Lamson.

They halted Charlie Ray into court the other day for doing 31 miles in a 25 mile auto zone and driving with an open muffler.

Mae Murray, screen star, stopped off in Chicago yesterday on her way to New York, where she will sail in a few days for Berlin to fulfill a one year contract with a German moving picture company.

aristocratic Villains there are only two left, the father—Don Gerardo—and his beautiful and tempestuous daughter, Carlotta. These two, deprived of their mine, still live on the estate—eating beans from silver platters, for they are very poor.

The father has been a stern man—so stern that his beautiful wife had run away to become a dancing girl. After her death the daughter is never allowed to mention the mother and she is kept strictly to him. No dances for Señora Carlotta.

She, too, rebels—having caught sight of the new mine manager—and goes to a dance where she knows he'll be. He treats her scornfully, and she returns home to an angry father, who intends to kill her but thinks better of it and kills himself instead.

Poor Carlotta—poor is right—finds her way to San Francisco and falls into the clutches of VULTURES. In a notorious dance hall again she meets the handsome manager. From then on their destinies are entwined and embroiled.

He scorns her some more, and she scorns him some more. There's a furious battle at the mine, and in it John Bassett is injured. Carlotta, who by this time has discovered that she loves and hates this blonde rescuer, comes to his aid.

The picture is adapted from a story by Joseph Hergesheimer. One suspects it of being considerably "from." It is a passable vehicle for the flaming Pola, but is by no means one of the best she has had. Good supporting cast.

See you tomorrow!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS K.: YOUR HEADACHES may result from eye strain, some digestive disturbance, or a nervous disorder. You must get at the cause and eliminate it. While headache remedies may give you temporary relief, it is not wise to use them.

MOTHER: IT MAY BE A CASE OF eczema. You should consult a physician about it without delay, and let him diagnose the case, and then prescribe for it.

Liquefied Soap and Thorough Rinsing Make Ideal Shampoo

by Chirine Dornally

A correspondent asks why her hair is sticky and gummy after she shampoos it, and why her hair brush is in the same state. She washes her hair brush each time, to make ready for the clean hair after the shampoo.

The fault is in the rinsing, mainly; possibly in the manner of using soap for the shampoo. I think rubbing a cake of soap directly on the hair is a thoroughly unsatisfactory method of shampooing. It is infinitely more cleansing when the soap is reduced to liquid by adding cold water, to cut the amount you require off a bar of soap (this regulated by the quantity of hair, naturally) and add a quart or so of water, put on the stove and let come to a boil, or let remain on the stove until the soap is entirely dissolved. You can cool the liquid or quickly by adding cold water. Wet the hair by dipping the head in the wash basin so that the entire scalp is immersed. Pour your liquefied soap over the scalp then and work it into a lather, working with both hands and getting to every part of the scalp with this lather.

I should recommend a second soaping and scalp scrubbing if the hair is thick or long. Then never use less than three fresh basins of water for rinsing. The spray for rinsing the hair is invaluable, as you can conveniently give it a more thorough rinsing. One thing is sure: you cannot do any harm to it with clean water.

There are hair specialists who believe in washing the hair twice—once for cleanliness and once for beauty. The hair is lathered, scrubbed, and rinsed repeatedly for cleanliness. The entire process is repeated to put the shine in the hair.

It is also a matter of personal taste whether you use cold water for the last rinse or warm water. Water slightly warmish is considered to give a lighter and fluffier look to the hair. But the cold water is a tonic to the scalp strongly recommended for persons whose hair condition indicates the need of scalp stimulant.

After the washing the hair benefits greatly if you will rub it dry with a towel. Rub at least until the water is entirely out of it. Then, if you want to give yourself a scalp treatment, here is a good time for it. With both hands manipulate the scalp until you stir up a good circulation. Then rub the hair about, and presently it will be dry. Since you cannot occupy your time with any other duties while your hair is drying, the massage of the scalp is an excellent way to improve the shining hair.

If the hair is washed with liquefied soap and rinsed thoroughly, there is no slightest chance of its being sticky or gummy.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter. Send name and address with your questions to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, for today's question Mrs. Louis Johnson, 2603 South York street, Elmhurst, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.
Should a man with an income of $5,000 or less be exempt from paying income tax?

The Answers.
Andrew Hudick, 830 North Waukegan avenue, salesman.
—Yes, under existing circumstances. If there were no wars there would be no income taxes. If there were a certain strong silent man in league with such power that it could prevent wars, then the people wouldn't suffer and they wouldn't have after-war bills to pay.

W. A. R. Mitchell, 84 West Washington street, retired newspaper man.
—I don't believe so. But, under exceptional instances, there is no reason why everybody in this country should not bear their share of the expense, however small that share might be, in support of the government. And this should be done willingly.

N. W. Hayden, 4571 Magnolia avenue, advertising salesman.
—Naturally, one would say no. Further, those who are investing their surplus money in non-taxable securities should be required to pay taxes on the same as on taxable securities. In other words, there should be equality throughout.

H. A. Boeche, 218 Michigan avenue, insurance claim adjuster.
—For a single man with no relatives or others to support, there is no reason why he could not do so. But for a married man, especially with a family to support, perhaps the answer would be yes, on account of the present high cost of living.

R. A. Walker, 1617 North Fairview avenue, plumber.
—No. In the first place, there are thousands of men whose income is $2,000 or even less, and they are bringing up fine families. If they do that, then all single men and the married men whose income is larger than that can do something for Uncle Sam.

THEATER

[Reprinted from yesterday's last edition.]

"THE JUDGE'S HUSBAND"
Play, in three acts, by William Hodge; made known in Chicago (by Lee Shubert) October 25, 1925, in the Adelphi Theater, with this cast:

Joe Kirby... Mr. Hodge
Judge Kirby, his wife... Gladys Hanson
Alice, their daughter... Ruth Lyons
Dan Reynolds... Reynolds Denison
Harry Fitch... Alexander Clark (16)
Fletcher... Charles E. Varn
Stella, his wife... Mattie Keene
Marge... Minnie Miles
Sophie, court-clerk... Mari Worth

Mr. Hodge, since 1913 the favorite playwright of a myriad ticket-buyers in this community, forsakes pulpitering in "The Judge's Husband," and submits, instead of another Easy Lesson in Self-Help, a story-piece about a homespun husband, a wife who thinks he's been stepping, a tertium quid who puts the notion into her head, and an ingenu daughter who, knowing that Papa loves Mamma, fixes things up.

Joe, a lawyer, teaches his wife how to do it, and sees her elected to the bench on a wave of realized suffrage. He doesn't mind doing the housework while she dispenses justice and holds conferences of great moment with the politicians and the statement; but he is one of those strong silent men when the time comes, and refuses to explain where he was two nights when he wasn't home, even when Dressed Don Reynolds, the tertium quid and a divorcee of mean repute, tells that Joe was visiting with a maid who formerly worked for the Kirbys. So, the Judge files for divorce, sits on her own case, appears as a witness for her husband, and fails ill, dismissing court for the day, with no answer to the question of most import to her—Where was Joe the two nights he wasn't home?

Well, the daughter explains, Joe was in New York, solving the case of two wicked married men had slipped her something in the guise of lemon-soda; and she had 'phoned for Dad to rescue her; and Dad took her to the maid's apartment until she could get ready to stand up and up; and they just feared to tell her mother, although nothing Really Wrong had happened. . . That's about it.

Mr. Hodge's piece ranges from fire-side farce to indoors melodrama; and the trouble with the melodrama is that, while it provides a heroic attitude for the upright and square-shooting husband, it does not help him out of the hole. He puts up a strong negative case in defense, and proves the villain to be a villain; but he doesn't convince the wife. And I should say that, however admirable Joe's silence regarding the daughter's scrape may be, he carries it too far when, rather than tell, he permits his wife to sue for divorce; after all, the girl was not to blame, and the mother could fairly have been trusted to believe it.

Mr. Hodge's being faced with the statutory necessity of cutting off his own head has an echo in Mr. Hodge's courtroom scene, where Mr. Kirby is the judge in her own suit for divorce, and is compelled to appear as a witness in her husband's behalf; but the author, in a foot-note, says he has consulted every best legal mind in connection, and at least one of the b. i. m. in New York, and it's all right in Connecticut. . . Connecticut is one of the States wherein I have not practiced law. I am of the belief that, in spite of that, the lawyers there do not confuse the verb "to live" with the verb "to reside."

As play-making, "The Judge's Husband" is a bit lumpy and uneven, with a final act that is sheer mawkishness. . . Mr. Hodge in his role is pretty much the Mr. Hodge we have known ever since "The Man from Home" and the others serve: Miss Hanson serves especially well.

Stage-News.
Charles King's name is restored to the cast of "Some Day," to be shown tomorrow night in the Olympic; and Russell Mack's name is dropped. The idea had been that Mr. Mack might be tonier or flashier or something than Mr. King for the special part, whatever it is; and the idea didn't work out in rehearsal. . . And Mr. King seemed to me to be coming along rather nicely when he was here, a year ago, in the seventeenth Ziegfeld Follies.

The Misses Mary and Florence Nash, performing in Miss Rachel Crothers' "A Lady's Virtue," will come Monday next to the Selwyn, where "The Fairy Uproar" is something less of an attraction than it ought to be.

"White Cargo" is in its final week in New York; Saturday night's will be the 56th performance there. . . The play was staged on a lake, a chance basis in Greenwich Village, and displayed just enough life, after a week or two, to warrant its being moved into a regular theater, although the actors hadn't been paid. . . Since the Federal litigation regarding its origin, the play is now credited to Mrs. Ida Vera Simonson's novel named "Hell's Playground."

Romeo Stuff Requires Skill, Too, It Seems

Doris Tells How to Hold Loved One's Regard.

BY DORIS BLAKE.
"What can a loveliest youth do to insure himself permanently in the graces of the divine one whose smiles are now sending him into deliriums of joy?" asks Joe.

Make himself so indispensable she'll have to marry him to be rid of him, Joe.

By making himself so agreeable and nice when he is with the adored one that she can't get along "at all, at all," when he is away from her.

Here is something young men are inclined to overlook in their love campaigning—the fact that campaigners are divided into two kinds—the amateur and the skilled craftsman. Consequently, you will see competitors of much less real worth who make a study of women and gain desirable wives from the amateur.

Some girls are dangerously easy to win; the more desirable ones frequently hard to win. It doesn't always profit a man to feel so conscious of his superiority that he thinks all he has to do is to offer himself to the finest girl of his acquaintance and he will grasp at the opportunity. If she is a superior young person herself, she knows her own value; also competition for her hand is likely to be keen. The best man wins after he has devoted some degree of effort and determination to study the individual girl and govern his campaign accordingly.

Fortunately for the amateur Romeo, women differ. What is necessary to win one woman may not be a qualification another would demand. But, taking them by and large, there are certain ways to their hearts that are more direct than others.

Just as a man likes to parade a girl before his friends who is smartly got up, so a woman likes to make her own friends see she, too, has the power to attract a particular person. A man should build up a favorable picture of himself in the girl's mind.

His person should be everything that is neat and nice, his clothes well cared for and his manners should qualify him for good society.

He will help his cause along if he, too, listens to the girl's troubles with a sympathetic ear, as she is told to listen to his, in the cold winning game. He ought to take an interest in her point of view, strive to be and deserve to be her confidant. He must realize there are campaign expenses to be reckoned with; that a girl gets weary of the type that is willing to spend nothing more than his evenings.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

He's Becomes Sky.
"Dear Miss Blake: I went with a boy who had to go to California. Since he returned he seems so changed. He is beautiful. Do you think that would hold him back?"

Act toward him just as you did before he left, and if his change of attitude due to his change of attitude will soon wear away.

Speak Right Up.
"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl dearly. I would like to know how I could get her interested in me."

"Tom R."

Ask to see her home for some party, Tom. Then include her in some of your little social affairs.

Piano Recital by George Voevodsky to Attract Society

Today's calendar contains several events of interest to society. Affairs this afternoon include the Junior Friends of Art opening fall meeting at the Blackstone, and the benefit concert for the Boys' Shelter club at the Drake. This evening a large number of smart folk will attend the piano recital to be given by George Voevodsky in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel, beginning at 8:45 o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Small will give a dinner before this affair.

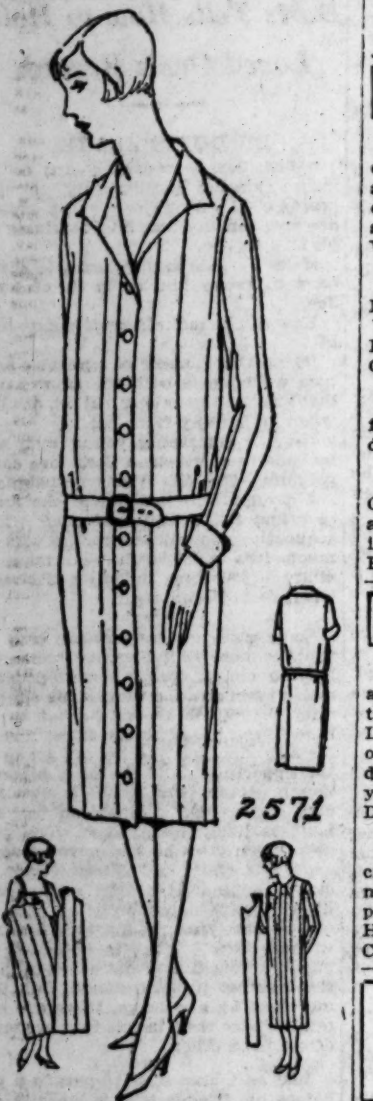

The Army and Navy club announces a luncheon and bridge party for wives of members and their guests this afternoon.

Mrs. James Bennett, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. W. T. Clegg, Mrs. W. F. Dickson, and Mrs. Pearson Marsh have cards out for a tea from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Hotel Ambassador.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman presided at a meeting yesterday morning of the Red, White, and Blue club, held in the Hotel Sherman. Further arrangements were made for the ball to be held at the new Sherman ballroom on Nov. 28. Bridge and mah jong, as well as dancing, are to be offered to the guests on that evening.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Jardine were the guests at dinner this evening of the assistant secretary of commerce and Mrs. J. Walter Drake.

The former secretary of war and Mrs. John W. Weeks sailed from New York yesterday for Argentina and Brazil. They expect to return for Christmas.

Mrs. James R. Mann has returned from a visit to Chicago, and went today to New York to spend the week.

Sir Charles and Lady Fitzpatrick of Canada have come to Washington for an indefinite stay. Sir Charles is here in connection with the American-British claims commission.

New York, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw will introduce their daughter, Louise Burton Laidlaw, at a reception the afternoon of Thursday, Nov. 19, at their residence, followed by a dance for her younger friends at Sherry's Saturday, Dec. 19.

While no definite date has been decided on by Mrs. Hector H. Havemeyer of 375 Park avenue, she will present her daughter, Dorothy Russell Havemeyer, some time during the Christmas holidays.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Forgetful.
My most embarrassing moment occurred when I was stationed in Atlanta during the war. Two companions and I dined at the home of a southern friend of mine, and after dinner he suggested we might go over to a neighbor, who had a piano, for some music.

Upon arriving there they insisted that I play, but before finishing the piece the hostess (a southerner) said, "If you insist on playing such music you must leave the house," which we did immediately. I had started playing "Marching Through Georgia." S. H.

Not for Her.
My most embarrassing moment occurred during the Junior prom. The one cherished hope of every girl was to dance with the class president. It seemed my hope was to be realized. The music for the next dance had started and the honored man was crossing the hall, smiling at me. I smiled in return and arose to meet him—when I found he was offering his arm to the girl sitting next to me! E. D.

Can some reader supply me with a large go-cart, for a crippled child? A friend of mine has a new baby (the seventh) and is unable to do the work and care for her fifth child, who is a cripple. I am going to take her into my home for a time but have no way of getting the cart. I will surely appreciate your help. Mrs. W.

Is there a large go-cart, stored away, and out of use, somewhere? There is need for it here, and gratitude.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.
Lessons in Lines.
NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many and varied are the pitfalls into which the stout man may tumble. I refer, of course, only to styles sartorial. In his effort to be stylish he may do many foolish things that a word to the wise may avert. Hence the following words to the wise stout man:

One of the fashionable bits of dress this season, as last winter, is the horizontally striped shirt. In plaided or stiff bosom model. The man with the stout figure and the man with an over-large and broad chest will do well to avoid this type of shirt, for the stout effect will be made stouter, and the broad chest will be made broader, the reason being, as I have pointed out before, that the horizontal lines carry the observing eye to the sides, and thus the effect of breadth is created. On the other hand, a shirt with vertical stripes will give the opposite result, and so such shirts are recommended for his honor the stout man.

If you are in doubt as to the truth of this, sit down with a pencil and paper, make two squares of equal size, put horizontal stripes in one and vertical stripes in the other, and, looking at them impartially, see which looks taller, and which broader.

Here's a good color scheme for use with a dark brown suit: Shirt of brown and white stripes, tie of brown and tan checks, top coat of greenish brown, belt of brown felt in harmonizing shade, and muffer of brown and tan striped knit silk.

LABOR-BUILDERS CONSPIRACY CASE TO HIGH COURT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The question whether certain manufacturers, contractors, and members of organized labor in Chicago were guilty of a conspiracy to unlawfully restrain interstate commerce will be decided by the Supreme court.

It was agreed by the court today that the case of the government against William F. Brims and others would be heard. They were charged with having combined to prevent manufacturing plants located outside of Chicago and in other states than Illinois from selling and delivering their building materials in Chicago.

The Circuit Court of Appeals held that the evidence offered merely disclosed an agreement between the defendants under which the members of labor unions would not install non-union made mill work, and did not sustain the charges in the indictment. The government contended that the verdict of the jury finding the defendants guilty should stand.

MURDER MAN, THEN A SUICIDE.
Bloomington, Minn., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Friedrich Klotz, 21, employed in the Minnesota Masonic home here, today shot and killed Earl Huggins, 22, another employee, and two hours later he himself was found under a corn shock, dead from self-inflicted wounds.

Bostonian Appointed Chief of Naval Engineers

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Capt. John Halligan Jr., of Boston was today appointed chief of the bureau of engineering of the navy for a four year term, with the rank of rear admiral. The appointment fills the vacancy caused by the expiration last month of the term of Capt. J. K. Robinson.

ICRA EAST AND WEST GAMES OCCUR GRID SPOTLIGHT

Navy Plays Yostm Illini Invades Pe

BY WALTER ECKERSA

Intercollegiate struggles between Michigan and the Navy at Ann Arbor and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia and traditional sectional games which contenders for titles in the East and West feature football Saturday.

The game between Michigan and Navy should be one of the most exciting in the middle west. Neither team has won in its respective division. The Wolverines, although the Middles were held by Princeton, which lost to Yale Saturday. The Wolverines, unquestionably one of the strongest teams in the west. They have a new coach in the person of Coach Yost.

Michigan in Top Shape.

The players came through the struggle with Illinois last Saturday. Edwards, the quarterback who was injured in the game, will be ready Saturday. Yost will present his strongest team against the Navy.

Signatories of the navy department will be guests of Michigan while the Middles' band will lead to lend its support. It is a great day at Ann Arbor where excellent teams struggling to the caliber of football of the times.

Illinois will go east in an effort to accomplish something which it failed to do last Saturday—defeat Pennsylvania. Members of the team and some critics who believe Illinois has an excellent chance if the field were fair. The Penn ends, and break loose off tackle. The team Daugherty will puncture and Blue forward will come of the Maroon backs, especially.

Illini Defense Strong.

Illinois played its best game of the year against Michigan on offense, however, the Orange Blue players failed to match defensive ability, and frequently missed. Michigan's forward line through and smash plays were formed.

Coch Zupke is undoubtedly one of the defensive players of the week to polishing offense.

If the forwards improve offensive play in a week's time, they will have a chance to give the Quakers a battle. The Orange and Blue players, however, will be given credit for having a fine and a strong attack. With Grange at his best, will be on a dry field. It is a lot of the Orange and Blue to such an occasion, but Illinois accomplished the seemingly impossible on so many occasions that return west on the long winter hours.

Gophers Meet Badgers.

Aside from the Michigan game in the middle west, the clash between Minnesota and Wisconsin at Minneapolis is almost important. While the Gophers, defeated by Notre Dame in the Big Ten eleven, they have not felt the defeat by a Big Ten eleven. The Maroon may be still in the running for a conference title, and will make an effort to defeat their rival.

On the other hand, Wisconsin, on avenging its defeat against Purdue last Saturday, will meet Purdue in Chicago, another undefeated team. The Maroon may be mentally reacting, but they play enough football to be clean as far as defensive teams is concerned.

Homecoming at N.

From a local standpoint, Northwestern games at Northwestern should be most interesting. Homecoming at the Evanston, and the old grads will come to support the team. A hard battle despite the fact that the Northwestern team has been defeated by Iowa and Ohio State, the conference teams will have a hard battle.

Notre Dame, which stage comeback against Minnesota, will journey to Atlanta for the game in the annual Georgia Tech in the annual game between the two schools.

The Missouri Valley conference, which is leading in the championship, will have a game with Ames at Ames, Iowa, and Oklahoma at Lincoln, Nebraska. The latter's field in the importance.

Army to Play in New York. The Army will play in New York, which will meet Princeton, which will meet Princeton, which will meet Princeton.

Other games of note, the Pacific coast, the Pacific coast, the Pacific coast.

BAKER IMPROVES, BUT CAN'T RUN ON WEAK ANKLE

Purple Star Confines Work to Passing, Kicking.

Northwestern gridders started off the week without the usual Monday night rest. All the first string men and reserves limbered up and ran through signals until Coach Thistlethwaite called them into the field house for a lecture. Then he and Duke Dunne, Jack Ryan, and Herb Rogers, other members of the coaching staff, told the Wildcats that a few of the things that were wrong in Saturday's game with Tulane.

The only cheering news from the Purple camp is that Moon Baker is improving and, although not able to run on his weak ankle, is getting off some pretty drop kicks and passes. Moon has not appeared in a suit since the Chicago game, but he has done a lot of passing and kicking without injuring his ankle.

King Brady, the Purple's veteran trainer, had his hands full yesterday mending the hurts inflicted by the hard hitting Tulane aggression. Waldo Fisher is hobbling around on crutches and it is doubtful if he will be able to start against Indiana Saturday. Mathews also is laid up with a bad elbow that interferes with his pass catching. Wallie Seidel, other end, perhaps one of the best cogs in Thistlethwaite's aerial attack, has a wrenched ankle, but Brady says he will be in shape for the next game. Fritz Bruce and Tim Lowry probably will wear headgear from now on since both got deep cuts in the head while playing without any skull protection last Saturday.

MAROONS TAKE IT EASY

Returning yesterday morning from Washington, D. C., where they went after their game with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday, University of Chicago football men set about the task of winning their remaining four games. The first of the four, against Purdue at the Midway Saturday, isn't expected to try the power of the Maroons greatly, but thereafter three hard tilts, against Illinois, Dartmouth and Wisconsin, will be played.

Yesterday's drill wasn't a rigorous one. There was no scrimmaging, but the entire afternoon was spent on perfecting plays with which Chicago will ask the Bollermakers Saturday and the Illini on the following week-end. Coach Stagg took some time to point out to his players errors made last week in performing plays used against Penn and in calling to their attention a few tactical errors.

The Chicago Bears will play the Rock Island Independents Sunday at Cub park. This arrangement was made in order to fill in the vacant date left by Racine, which dropped out of the National Pro league.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

MAROON STRATEGY.

THREE times after Pennsylvania scored its lone touchdown in the first quarter at Philadelphia Saturday Chicago had the ball at Penn's 20 yard line or beyond. That in itself shows how far the affair was from being a rout and how desperately the Maroons fought to retrieve the initial handicap.

On each of those three occasions Chicago lost the ball on incomplete passes over the goal line, which enabled the Quakers to bring it out to their 20 yard line. On the homecoming Rooters' special some asked whether it would not have been advisable to try Curley at drop kicks or Drain at place kicks.

The Wake does not think so. In the first place, Penn had seven points. That meant a touchdown to tie or a touchdown and field goal to win. Chicago's objective obviously was a touchdown. Secondly, Kreuz, Penn's place kicker, made three such attempts, none of them successful, although two were at easy distances. The ball was too wet and slippery for field goal kicking.

Perhaps Timme could have gone out through after his first two bucks, but Abbott's strategy was for surprise, not unsound, although Marks and Kernwein were having difficulty in keeping their feet in the slimy footing.

Penn's Attitude.

Penn supporters after the game said Chicago had a "great team," but the admission was tolerant rather than enthusiastic. The attitude was that if Chicago had evened the count Penn still had much in reserve and would have attacked rather than adopted a passive defense.

After the first touchdown Chicago had three chances to score, two of which were really threatening. Maroons decisively outplayed the Quakers in the second period. Penn threatened five times after the touchdown, but only twice was within the Maroons' 20 yard line. Once a place kick failed, and the other time, near the end of the game, with only a few minutes to play, the ball was lost on downs.

In total yardage Chicago gained more than Penn, partly because the hosts, if they may be called such, were on the defense and playing as safely as possible.

Football Retrospect.

In Saturday's football forecast The Wake had 26 winners, 12 losers, and one tie. They're still tough pickings! Season to date, 115 winners, 31 losers, 9 ties.

Gridiron Approval.

The Fraternal and Benevolent Order of Cleaners and Dyers and the Associated Order of Shoe Shiners should pass resolutions approving football. At Philadelphia, Champaign, Columbus, Stagg field, and many other places unfavorable weather conditions exerted only slight effect on the crowds. Rain fell all through the game in Philadelphia, but none left before it was over. Yep, football sure has an appeal.

Deer Hunters to Invade Michigan in Large Numbers

BY BOB BECKER.

Thayer, Ind., Oct. 26.—[To the Editor.]—Could you please tell me what the license fee is for hunting deer and bear in Michigan or Wisconsin? Which is the better hunting place of the two? How far north would one have to go? Which is best, shotgun with buckshot or rifle?

ANSWER—If you want some deer hunting this fall, you'll have to go into Michigan, as Wisconsin has closed the lid on all deer hunting during the 1925 season.

The Michigan season opens Nov. 15 and continues through the 30th. The bear season is the same. According to the 1925 game code, a deer hunting license for a nonresident costs $50, which permits you to kill one buck deer with horns not less than 3 inches above the skull.

Although there are a few black bear in both northern Wisconsin and Michigan, there is small need to worry about being run over by a "flo-k" of them. The blackies can hardly be called plentiful in this day and age. Better go pretty well north in the state for your shooting. A guide is desirable, too, as you will be in strange country. We do not think much of a shotgun with buckshot for deer hunting. Better stick to a rifle. Don't forget your red hat and coat. It looks as if Michigan were going to have all kinds of deer hunters this fall, so the "warren" of the red" is a safety first.

CLOSED CARS

Recently General Motors announced that Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick and Cadillac now represent "the greatest values in automobile history."

This was a carefully considered statement. It was based on the knowledge of the sweeping economies that have been achieved in the production and marketing of General Motors cars, and the fact that these economies are passed on to the car buyer.

The statement applies with special emphasis to General Motors closed cars, with "Bodies by Fisher."

The Fisher Body Corporation is a part of General Motors. A complete Fisher Body plant is operated at or near each General Motors car division. The tremendous production of the Fisher Body Corporation—which serves makers of other trustworthy cars as well—has enabled it to manufacture quality closed bodies at the very lowest cost.

Champ in Mexico to Exhibitions.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

Mr. Jack Dempsey, one of the great prize fighters, is going back to help a business vector, a around spender. Such a move, from Los Angeles, where the holder is so devotedly followed, to the city where he made the sam with the challenger, Wills, looks like a time stipulated in the contract recently at Niles, Mich. No statement to this effect has been made by Dempsey, but it is believed that his financial structure is in support with ready cash, rumor that he may battle the crown seeker before the coming year has passed, and that a site may be selected for the fight.

Jack Has Troubles. According to stories drifting from the west coast, there are reasons for believing that who rose up out of nowhere to a citizen of means almost at the at the most, original point in his career.

Chief among Jack's difficulties is a mortgage on his Los Angeles hotel, the Barbary, that represents an investment of approximately $100,000. His Utah mine also are said to have developed liabilities instead of assets. Since his cash, around $75,000, is in a recent decline, Dempsey is in a recent decline. Strengthening the belief that property poor, and knows it, a few developments in his affairs the last week. He is going to City to pick up some money in bond bonds. It is whispered that he may be forced to discontinue a license for this father. And the son's wife, Estelle Taylor, has to return to the screen as Borgin in "Don Juan."

Million for Fight. Whether any steps have been taken with a view to staging the fight in Florida is not known, however, that Dempsey so far refused to consider the fight in Florida. It is whispered that he may be forced to discontinue a license for this father. And the son's wife, Estelle Taylor, has to return to the screen as Borgin in "Don Juan."

Wherever the battle is held, say counts on pulling down for his end, most of which to be paid in advance. For the present, real estate boom thousands over its borders, in place, and there probably no trouble organizing a system take over the proposition. It is like Miami or Jacksonville, a of around 50,000 spectators realized.

Kearns Also Figures. The one difficulty, in the is rumored is the legal phase has no anti-boxing law, but Dempsey meeting there looked upon as a prize fight a mere bout.

To add complication to Dempsey is the presence of Jack's champ's erstwhile manager, Angeles. They conferred week, and this gave rise that Kearns might be roster Dempsey pilot.

DEMPSEY WANTS WORK; MAY FIGHT WILLS IN FLORIDA

Champ in Mexico to Box Exhibitions.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Mr. Jack Dempsey, ace of the heavy-weight boxers, is going back to work to help out Mr. Jack Dempsey, business man, investor, and all-around good spender.

Such is indicated by reports from Los Angeles, where the title-holder is said to be so deeply involved in his various enterprises that he may decide to climb into the same ring with the colored challenger, Harry Wills, long before the time stipulated in the contract signed recently at Niles, Mich.

No statement to this effect has come from the headquarters of the king of fighters, but in the wake of stories that his financial structure is in need of support with ready cash, is a rumor that he may battle the Negro boxer before the coming winter has passed, and that a site in Florida may be selected for the fuss.

Jack Has Troubles.

According to stories drifting back from the west coast, there are numerous reasons for believing that the lad who rose up out of nowhere to become a citizen of means almost overnight is at the most critical point of his career.

Chief among Jack's difficulties is said to be a mortgage on his Los Angeles home, the Barbara, that represents an investment of approximately a half million dollars. His Utah mine holdings also are said to have developed into liabilities instead of assets. Another one of his cash, around $75,000, faded in a recent movie venture.

Strengthening the belief that Jack is property poor, and knows it, are various developments in his affairs during the last week. He is going to Mexico City to pick up some money in exhibition bouts. It is whispered that he was forced to discontinue a liberal allowance for this father. And the champion's wife, Estelle Taylor, has signed to return to the screen as Lucetta Morgan in "Don Juan."

Million for Fight.

Whether any steps have been taken with a view to staging the Wills fight in Florida is not known. It is known, however, that Dempsey has so far refused to consider New York as a site, and there is good reason to doubt the ability of Floyd Fitzsimmons, who holds the signatures of both fighters, to stage the spectacle in Indiana.

Wherever the battle is held, Dempsey counts on pulling down a million for his end, most of which will have to be paid in advance. Florida, with its present real estate boom drawing thousands over its borders, is a logical place, and there probably would be no trouble organizing a syndicate to take over the proposition. In centers like Miami or Jacksonville a turnout of around 50,000 spectators might be realized.

Kearns Also Figures.

The difficulty in the plan such as is rumored is the legal phase. Florida has no anti-boxing law, but a Wills-Dempsey meeting there might be looked upon as a prize fight and not a mere bout.

To add complication to Dempsey's affairs is the presence of Jack Kearns, the champ's erstwhile manager in Los Angeles. They conferred there last week, and this gave rise to reports that Kearns might be restored as the Dempsey pilot.

Kearns gave the laugh to that version, and said the matter wasn't even discussed. Then he added that if Dempsey ever did fight again it would be for Tex Rickard in New York.

FLORIDA ADOPTS NEW RULES FOR WINTER TRAFFIC

Boul Mich System Is Needed.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Color and movement, particularly movement, follow every turn of the tourists wheel down here in the teeming tip of Uncle Sam's winter capital.

Its all nervous high speed country, where the traditional leisure of the south is buried under a tidal wave of northern pep and where neither a tropical sun nor a vast confusion of scenic beauties can sidetrack the mad scramble for real estate pay streaks.

The motorist feels this hectic rush first as he enters west Palm Beach and whirled into a traffic which makes the narrow Dixie highway look like Michigan avenue during a Kiwanis parade.

Change Traffic Rules.

Until today, perching and wild eyed traffic cops attempted to control heavy local traffic and some 2,000 foreign cars daily with a few automatic lights hung high above the main intersections, changing traffic bells, funny and meaningless arrows painted on the pavement and well developed lung power.

All this was changed today, however, with the adoption of strict traffic regulations, the laying out of one way streets, properly marked to carry traffic, and a new enforcement of stop rules at dangerous crossings.

THE TRAFFIC pilgrims escaped some of the worst congestion in the run south, and added another thirty miles of delightful Florida scenery to its already bulging log book by avoiding the Dixie. Following the ocean drive, we headed directly south from the Algonquin in Palm Beach, past the charred ruins of the breakers, and through the cool depths of Palm forest and winter estates on the asphalt ribbon that winds along the sea as far as Boca Raton, where developers hope to establish the new ultra fashionable resort of the east coast.

It is a worthy while thirty mile diversion from the blazing road, and about Nov. 1 will be available for through traffic along the Atlantic all the way from Palm Beach to Miami.

Improves at Miami.

Miami offers an even more terrifying traffic welcome to the stranger, but soon proved that it has mastered most of its traffic difficulties. From Fort Lauderdale south through picturesque Hollywood wide paved boulevards show the vision of big time developers. New roads, from 60 to 200 feet in width, are going forward all along the line, and just now road widening causes a short but difficult detour at the Miami city limits. From that point on traffic is guided by big and carefully placed signs into the one way arteries making up the city street system.

Except in rush hours it moves along at a steady 25 and 30. The congested business district is also relieved by well marked one way streets, automatic traffic lights with starting gongs, and traffic officers who might have graduated from the state and Madison intersection.

ORIGINAL FIELD IN AUTO RACES AT HAWTHORNE

The postponed session of Chicago's first annual all-comers auto racing championship, which is slated for next Sunday at Hawthorne, will draw practically every one of the fifty-two speed stars who were balked by a muddy track last Sunday.

Ralph Ormsby, Hilton Crough and Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, Gus Schrader of Des Moines, Harry Carlton of Minneapolis, Bill Hicks and Kiondie Harris of Lansing, and Harry Kiester of Benton Harbor are some of the leading out of town contestants who will return for the races. Chicago pilots, including Bugs Allen, Eddie Burback, Harry Nichols, Walter Martins, Curley Yovine and Ralph Eckstrom, will be ready for Starter St. John's white flag.

WIGGINS, FLOWERS BATTLE TONIGHT AT EAST CHICAGO

Each Has Met Top Notchers of His Division.

Chuck Wiggins, the Indianapolis light heavyweight, and Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., looked upon as one of the best southpaws in both the middleweight and light heavyweight divisions, will trade punches for ten rounds or less in the main event of the indoor boxing show at East Chicago tonight.

Flowers and Wiggins have met some of the best fighters in their respective divisions. Chuck has traded punches with such well known glove wielders as Gene Tunney, the American light heavyweight champion; Tommy Gibbons, who gave Jack Dempsey an interesting fight at Shelby; Harry Greb, the world's middleweight title holder; Charley Weinert, Bob Roper, and Martin Burke.

Held Greb to Draw.

Wiggins and Greb fought a furious draw in the semi-final of the Dempsey-Mishe fight in Benton Harbor a few years ago. In that fracas the men stood toe to toe and let go with both hands. Wiggins holds two decisions over Weinert, and recently knocked out Johnny Rizzo of Cleveland. He is a clever boxer who can hit with a right hand.

Flowers has met some of the best fighters in the middleweight ranks. He holds decisions over Jack Malone, Batt Gabele, Jimmy Barry, Ted Jackson, Joe Lohman, Clem Johnson, Johnny Wilson, and many others. Tiger has a stiff wallop in his left hand, and uses his right for jabbing and hooking.

Herman, Feldman in Semi-Final.
Tommy Herman of the board of trade and Chuck Feldman of Toledo will meet in the eighth round semi-final. Paul Allen, the University of Illinois boxer, and Charley Glaser of Chicago will mix in one of the six round preliminaries. The other openers will bring together Frankie Frisco and Eddie Raynor, and Ernie Peters and Buster Sarlano.

A regular train will leave over the Illinois Central from the Randolph street station at 6:48 o'clock.

GREB'S DEMANDS TOO HIGH, TEX ABANDONS BOUT

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Because of what he characterized as excessive financial demands by Harry Greb, middleweight champion, Tex Rickard today announced that he had called off negotiations for a return match between Greb and Mickey Walker, welterweight title holder.

Rickard had planned this bout as one of the features of his indoor program at the New Madison Square Garden on Dec. 18. Rickard's new matchmaker, Jess McMahon, now plans to seek a return featherweight title bout on that date between Kid Kaplan, the champion, and Babe Herman, contingent upon Herman winning a bout in Boston Nov. 4 with Honey Boy Finnegan.

KAHN TO SUB FOR VICENTINI

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Harry Kahn, Milwaukee southpaw lightweight, was substituted today for Luis Vicentini, who will not be in condition to meet Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., here Friday night.

Vicentini injured his right hand in training, the hurt being of such nature as to prevent him fulfilling his contract.

Mastodon Berry Yields Big Profit to Fruit Grower

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Commercial fruit growers are reporting big profits from the Mastodon variety of strawberry, a new ever-bearing which is attracting much attention in Michigan and Indiana. The experience of B. W. Keith with this variety during the last season, or two will give some idea of its importance to fruit growers.

The Keith farm, near Sawyer, Mich., started with 3,000 plants and today the 100-acre plot is covered with the plant. Up to Oct. 20 more than 100,000 plants or 10,000 quarts of strawberries had been picked from the plot this season. Growers claim it is the most productive and profitable everbearing strawberry.

From plants set on the Keith farm last April, ripe berries were picked on July 11, within 90 days after the plants were put in the ground. From the spring set plants berries were picked every three to five days, yielding by the first of August about 100 quarts per acre every five days, and at that time they sold at 20 cents a quart. Despite dry weather in early fall, 36 cases in all were picked at one picking during the first week in September. These late picked berries sold at $1 a 16-quart case in Chicago, netting $2.30 a case to the grower. Cool, cloudy weather brought the pickings down to 5 cases to the acre during the first week in October.

There are still a great many berries on the vines, but the cool, cloudy weather prevents ripening. Mr. Keith expects to get another 150 cases if the weather is favorable. Mastodon is scheduled to be in the northern markets by late October, with plenty of strawberries being supplied until freezing fall weather.

GLEN VIEW GOLF CLUB HONORS 1925 OFFICIALS

Nominates the Present Staff for 1926.

Reflection of at least nomination for reelection gives assurance of a job well done, members of the Glen View Golf Club believe. And because they served well, the present officers of the golf club have been nominated for another year's service by the nominating committee. They are: John C. Slade, president; Scott Brown, vice president; Kenneth H. Burns, secretary, and Andrew McNally, treasurer.

There will be few changes in the executive personnel of the Women's Western Golf association when the annual meeting and election is held next Thursday at the Women's Athletic club. Candidates named for reelection include Mrs. John W. Douglas, Barrington Hills, president; Mrs. E. J. Marston, Brook Park, first vice president; Mrs. Robert M. Cutting, Hinsdale, second vice president; and Mrs. Paul Walker, Evanston, corresponding secretary. New nominees are Mrs. Harvey Corp. Beverly, who will succeed Mrs. E. J. Marston, and Mrs. H. L. Moore, South Shore, as treasurer.

Members of the Edgewood Golf club of La Grange have voted to change the name of the organization to the Edgewood Valley Country club. The new course, located about four miles northwest of La Grange, is most completed and the new clubhouse will be ready about May 1.

TRIPLE TIE IN GREENS SECTION GOLF TOURNEY

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A triple tie in the men's division of the National Greens Section tournament was announced today by the United States Golf association. The winners, each seven up on par with the aid of their handicaps, were: Edmund H. Miller, Fort Wayne Country club; G. B. H. Macomber Jr., Braburn Country club, West Newton, Mass.; and D. R. Wheeler, Colonial Country club, Harrisburg, Pa.

The winner of the women's competition was Mrs. A. Hauslober of Wyoming Valley Country club, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., with a gross score of 97 and a handicap of 33.

The contestants in the tournaments this year numbered 8,834, representing 169 clubs.

Gasoline Cost 15.6% of Operating Expenses

In the hope of proving how very expensive it is to operate an automobile, the Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information recently published a story of an automobile owner who traced his operating costs for two years.

The cost of gasoline reflected by these figures is 15.6% of the whole.

This is doubly interesting when compared with the findings of Mr. Royal S. Kellogg, whose figures we quoted some weeks ago, showing that his gasoline cost, for a period of ten years, amounted to 12 1/4% of the cost of running the car.

Since a gasoline cost of 15.6% of the total cost appears to be a maximum, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) takes pleasure in presenting the detailed figures of this test.

This shows that gasoline represents but a small part of the total operating cost of an automobile.

Cost Accounting Covering 730 Days Use of a Car Priced at $550

License	$ 21.00
Lubricants	32.00
Tires	50.00
Interest on Investment	90.00
Repairs and Miscellaneous	100.00
Insurance	108.00
Garage	144.00
GASOLINE	160.00
Depreciation	320.00
	$1025.00
Miles covered	14,000
Miles per gallon gasoline	17.5
Days used	730
Running expenses per day	$0.84
Total expense per day	1.40
Total expense per month	42.65

Carrying these figures a bit further it is shown that the total operating cost per mile is 7.3c and the cost of gasoline is but 1.1c per mile.

From every angle, whether you judge it by comparison with other necessities, such as foodstuffs, furniture, clothing, building material, gasoline proves itself among the least expensive of all essential commodities. If you appraise by comparison with the total upkeep expense, you will admit that gasoline is low in price.

In view of a continually increasing demand, the low price of gasoline is made possible only by increased efficiency in refining. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a leader in raising the quality and dependability of the products—in originating better manufacturing methods—and in establishing lower costs—and in maintaining a price so low as to bring gasoline within the reach of everyone, everywhere, in the Middle West.

ate valued at $22,375,000; net profits in 1924 totaled $1,522,581. Stock interests owned by the City in important enterprises are valued at more than $4,000,000. It also owns valuable real estate, including building sites, forest areas and agricultural lands. Total assets owned by the City are valued at more than $72,000,000 or more than seven times the maximum total funded debt to be presently outstanding.

FINANCES Taxable income of the inhabitants for 1924 was approximately $107,142,000. The assessed valuation of real estate is reported in excess of $330,000,000. Since the stabilization of the currency, the budget of the City has been consistently balanced and for the fiscal year 1924 showed a surplus, after all expenditures, of $180,592. The budget for 1925, including all extraordinary items arising out of proceeds of loans, balances at $21,460,714.

These Bonds will constitute the only external debt of the City and the only funded debt contracted since the stabilization of the currency. Under the Revaluation Law of July 16, 1925, the maximum annual charges, including interest and amortization, on the paper mark debt of the City is estimated not to exceed $600,000 a year. PROSPERITY ON FARMS SHOWS IN REAL EARNINGS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Prosperity in the middle west agricultural section and a record breaking movement of commodities this autumn are proving a boon to the western railroads. It now seems assured that the final results for this year will prove as good and in most cases better than last year, with adverse comparative results for the first half of this year more than overcome in the last six months.

Any doubt regarding the ability of the Chicago and Northwestern to maintain its present $14 annual dividend was removed by President Fred W. Sargent, who said the full year's dividend was more than earned by the end of September. Surplus for the nine months after all charges was $7,822,000, equal after preferred dividends to $4.35 a share on the common stock, compared with $4.20 a share for all of 1924.

Surplus Gains $2,054,000.

The Northwestern's surplus for this year to date marks a gain of $2,054,000 over last year, and it was accomplished despite a decline of $2,185,000 in gross revenues. September surplus of $2,171,000 was a gain of $395,000 over a year ago, and Mr. Sargent predicts this month will make about the same showing. Net operating income for September was $18,109,373, a gain of $145,459 over last year, while net for nine months was $15,531,370, a gain of $3,332,142.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul also is making a much better showing. Gross operating revenue for September was $18,109,373, an increase of $2,171,000 over September last year, while net operating income of $3,428,072 marked a gain of $409,131. For the nine months gross was $155,831,531, an increase of $3,037,933; but net of $45,810 marked a decline of $2,706. But the St. Paul still has three months to overcome this comparative decline.

Good Year for I. C.

The Illinois Central will have one of the best years in its history, if not a record year. Net income for nine months was $21,055,654, an increase of $1,027 over last year, while gross was $128,734,646, a gain of $1,124,202. Net for September was $2,958,851, a gain of $288,875 over a year ago, while gross of $15,875,915, an increase of $510,371.

The anthracite miners' strike has caused a sharp decline in earnings of the eastern coal carriers. September gross of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western was $15,154,704, a decline of $1,154,574 from a year ago, while net of $18,213 marked a drop of $698,784. However, for nine months gross totaled $165,165,370, an increase of $952,166, while net was $12,203,147, a gain of $740,321.

The Erie Railroad reported surplus of $4,038,976 for nine months, equal after preferred dividends to $6.99 a share on the common stock, compared with $5,404,601, or $5.37 a share, in the same period last year. The Pittsburgh and Western had surplus of $1,445,296 for nine months, or $4.78 a share on the common stock, compared with $1,374,906, or $3.19 a share, for the 1924 period.

RAILROAD NOTES

Counsel for the Panhandle has filed a brief of objections to the proposed report of the assistant director of the interstate commerce commission's bureau of finance who recommended that the road be denied permission to construct a line across Pennsylvania. The brief says the assistant director erred in holding that the estimates of the cost of construction and equipment were insufficient and that probabilities of reduction in cost of railway construction were not sufficient to warrant necessary for the road than was established by the evidence.

Claims paid to shippers by the railroads of this country during the first nine months of this year for loss on certain commodities in which they have been one of the major causes were more than $100,000,000, according to the corresponding period in 1924, according to reports received from carriers by the American Railway association.

The interstate commerce commission authorized the Longview, Portland and Northern railway to issue $1,250,000 in common capital stock and $2,500,000 in first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, to be delivered to the Long Bay Lumber company in reimbursement of advances made the railroad for capital purposes.

Atlantic loadings in week of Oct. 23 were 44,803, against 44,551 in same week 1924. Seaboard Air Line loadings for the first twenty-three days of October totaled 154,342, against 110,852 last year. Increase was 32 per cent.

POWER MACHINES
STRAIGHT BACK OF MAN WITH HOE

BY HARPER LEECH.

Department of commerce figures on the production and shipment of mining and industrial electric locomotives show that only 297 of these labor savers and heralds of the new day in heavy industry were placed in service in the first six months of 1925, compared to 340 in the same period of 1924. This was to be expected. It coincides with the figures of the department of labor for the same period disclosing a large return movement of Europe of unskilled labor.

Few statistics are more revealing of social changes and business trends than those dealing with the production of creating machinery, conveyors of all types, and intra plant haulage devices. These machines have invaded the last stronghold of the man with the hoe, who has been rapidly routed from the open fields by farm power and machinery.

We are far along in the elimination of human muscle from lifting and placing. The remaining stronghold of human power is in the industries, which disassemble natural products which cannot be standardized as to size or weight, as animals.

Highway construction and concrete work of all kinds gave a tremendous impulse to the use of mechanical power in such tasks. An engineer said to the writer the other day: "A pyramidal would be pitted today. I would willingly contract to erect the duplicate of the big one in 12 months' time."

The production of digging, lifting, and tamping machinery is now an index of the common labor market in itself. The brief survey of 1925, when crises of industrial machinery were being heaped, caused an output of mining and industrial locomotives double that of the following year.

The bread and meat burner is following the hay and coal burner down the long slope. When the hand of labor grasps the lever of a power driven device it assumes the scepter of industrial kingship. It is the greatest emancipation of history. Edwin Markham voiced the vain prayers and regrets of poets, priests, and prophets of all the millenniums when he asked whose hand he sloped back the brow of the man with the hoe. Will his kind please tell the world, who has straightened up his back and slanted his brain to "Plato and the spring of Pegasus"—if he cares to give them the once over?

However, it is a good guess that the art of Chaplin will profit more from the new millions of patrons thus created.

As long as it remains possible to get from one cent's worth of coal as much energy as a full grown man can create in a day's time from three square meals—to say nothing of clothes, shoes, and other overheads—America will continue on the road to leisurely liberty. For that new freedom, little things are due to art and artists, who have mostly fought the machine and baited the Babbitts.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON SHORT BUYING; CORN IS LOWER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

General run of news regarding the world's wheat situation was more favorable to holders than for some time, and development of the best foreign demand in a considerable period with continued drought in Australia and wet and cold weather in Canada brought in free buying by shorts and commission houses and the close was around the top with net gains of 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents with December leading. All deliveries of corn sold at a new low on the crop and closed 1/2 to 3/4 lower. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher and rye up 1/4.

Local traders were generally short, using by an unexpected upturn of 15 to 40 in Liverpool, with October leading, due to light stocks of cash grain and liberal buying by the continent on direct orders. There was little for sale until new December touched 14 1/2, and for that figure the market was forced to absorb profit taking sales. The break in corn led to selling at one time, but the undertone was that the market was forced to cover later.

Visible Supply Decreases.

A decrease of 2,661,000 bu in the visible supply attracted much attention, as under normal conditions the reduction does not start until January or February. Total supplies are 46,034,000 bu. against 47,767,000 last year. Export demand at the seaboard was active, with sales of 1,300,000 bu in all positions, including 300,000 to 400,000 bu. Winnipeg reported exporters free buyers there, and the country was also on that side. The finish was 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 higher.

Domestic demand for cash wheat was fair, with the basis firm in all markets. Unless dry weather comes shortly much wheat will have to be carried over unthreshed in the Canadian northwest. Special cables to THE TRIBUNE confirming reports that Russia had less grain for export than recently estimated attracted much attention. The claim that Russia did not have the wheat the soviet government estimated was exclusively given to the trade by THE TRIBUNE on Sept. 16.

Liquidation in Corn.

Liquidation was on in corn, with all deliveries selling at a new low on the crop, September touching 7 1/2 and May 7 1/4, with the close within a fraction of the bottom. The undertone was heavy throughout the day. A break of 5/8 to 1 in the basis on new corn, with sample grade selling at 56 1/2 to 57, had considerable influence, and it was estimated that 25 cars of new were received. A decrease of 1,124,000 bu in the visible supply was ignored. Oats and rye were firmer in sympathy with wheat.

Lard is Sharp Decline.

Best buyers of lard on Saturday were free sellers yesterday, and with the lard in corn and cotton a decline was easily attained, the finish being at net losses of 20 to 25. Ribs and bellies were unchanged. Deliveries on October contracts were 50,000 lb lard. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A three day bulge in wheat futures in Chicago with hardening of cash premiums in all markets has created more friendly feeling to the buyers side on breaks and caused covering by shorts, reducing that interest and driving holders more confident.

Lack of breadth of the speculative trade in wheat makes those who have favored the bear side cautious about following the advance. On the other hand, several large pit traders said they preferred the buying side on breaks as February conditions are not in the visible supply of wheat the last few weeks and to the unusually small movement of wheat from the country.

The United States has little or no wheat to spare, as J. P. Griffin views it. He regards the situation as strong and becoming more so daily. He thinks Canada must supply the world's needs for months, or a crop south of the equator are ready for market. In this respect he says that Canada occupies the same position the United States did last year and will probably get a higher price as the world's demands must center on that crop. He predicts a substantial advance for prices in Chicago and Winnipeg.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The French cabinet fell today, ridding itself of the troublesome Joseph Caillaux, and immediately prepared to rise to again with Premier Poincaré assuming the reins of government, premier and minister of finance. The comparatively calm change of government, which had been expected for several days, came formal afternoon when Premier Poincaré after a brief meeting of the cabinet which refused to accept M. Caillaux's financial program, visited Elysée and tendered the resignation himself and his colleagues to President Doumergue.

Decided Since Friday.
Standing on the steps of Elysée in the rain, surrounded by a group of journalists, M. Poincaré revealed news that the resignation had been decided upon last Friday, but was postponed in order to allow M. Briand to preside at the league of nations all with full prestige as France's minister of foreign affairs. "I have just given the cabinet mission to the president," said Poincaré, tired and worn from long nights, and visibly nervous. "Myself and most of the leagues have had the idea in our minds since Friday. We delayed in the decision public in order to Briand full authority before the league of nations, which for some time is about to establish between two nations whose already have come to grips."

Cabinet to Back Next Week.
"I do not know whom the president will call as my successor. I never the man who is called to take power in the delicate situations through which we are passing. I can count on the support of present cabinet, which will follow like good soldiers of France. Shrewd political observers, this statement partial cause if the cabinet had fallen Friday M. Briand was certainly been renounced foreign minister the league council opened on evening. M. Poincaré's pledge port his successor also turned ironic angle, because it is certain that he will succeed."

Crisis Weakens France.
The franc showed a reaction cabinet crisis by weakening today. It opened at 23.41 and closed at 23.91, while at 11.45 to a pound and 118.80. Today's historic events in politics began shortly after when M. Poincaré held a conference with former Premier Briand when he succeeded and was president of the chamber of deputies in the chamber of deputies decided that M. Caillaux's resignation to a capital levy would wreck the support of the league.

Insist on Resigning.
After nearly an hour's talk, he left to preside at the cabinet at the ministry of war was clear after a brief conference cabinet was far from supporting the fighting M. Poincaré for new fiscal legal cabinet members discussed affairs along general lines, M. Poincaré instructing M. Briand to present their resignation to the president.

The announcement of the resignation again was delayed in the morning's session, of the council. After luncheon M. Poincaré went to Elysée palace, where he waited for more than an hour for the president. He then left as a private citizen.

President Calls Leaders.
President Doumergue then called M. De Selves, president of the M. Harriot, president of the M. and other political leaders to advise about a new premier. M. Poincaré departed in high spirits and joking with the journalists. President Doumergue then called M. Malvy, Senator Henri and other leaders of the right. Following these interviews, President Doumergue announced that President Doumergue had not yet made up his mind about M. Poincaré's successor. He expected to announce his decision tomorrow.
